

Man Killed, Another Badly Injured By Verdugo Avalanche

30 TONS OF DIRT FALL, ENTOMBING WORKMEN IN HILLS

Charles Findley Loses Life
And W. H. Mershon Hurt
In Gravel Pit Crash

Buried under a thirty-ton cave-in at the Gordon & Harrison gravel pit just north of Sparr Heights, near Verdugo road, at 7:30 o'clock this morning, Charles Findley of 1741 Camulos avenue, Verdugo Woodlands, a married man, was crushed to death and W. H. Mershon of Florencia avenue, Montrose, was painfully injured.

Several other workmen escaped by the merest chance, when without warning the great wall of sandy earth, believed to have been loosened by the recent rains, avalanched down upon them.

Chief Arthur H. Lankford of the Glendale Fire department rushed to the scene with a pulmotor, following a hurry call, but was unable to resuscitate Mr. Findley, who was taken to the Jewel City undertaking parlors, where the body is being held for inquest.

Taken to Hospital
The other victim of the cave-in is now at the Glendale Research hospital, suffering from shock and possible internal injuries but reported to stand every chance for recovery.

The rescue was made by a Gordon & Harrison shovel crew taken from a nearby job and was accomplished in record time, the entombed men being uncovered inside of five minutes from the time of the accident.

Lieutenant William J. Royle, who made the investigation for the Glendale police department, states that the inquest over the body of Charles Findley will probably be held tomorrow.

Provides Material
The Gordon & Harrison gravel pit just north of Sparr Heights, where the fatal accident occurred this morning, is one of the major holdings of this large company and has figured extensively in Los Angeles county building operations of recent years, much of the material for highway construction and the erection of tall buildings originating here.

Many who have driven north on Verdugo road from Glendale to Montrose have noticed the jagged scar in the hills to the left, not far north of the Oakmont Country clubhouse. It was at the foot of this sandy scar that the tragedy occurred, a great wall of sub-strata giving way and tumbling its immense weight upon the two unfortunate men.

Leaves Family
That Mr. Mershon did not share the fate of his fellow worker, Mr. Findley, is due only to the miraculous speed with which the Gordon & Harrison rescue crew was dispatched to the scene and went to (Continued on page 8)

Los Angeles Is Picked as Start Of World Flight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The round-the-world flight by army experts next spring will start from Los Angeles, instead of Seattle, Wash., as originally planned, it was announced today by Major-General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service.

By starting from Los Angeles the aviators will have the opportunity of testing their motors, planes and instruments in flying up the coast before making the first flight across the ocean.

The probable route from Los Angeles to Seattle will be east to the Mojave desert and over the San Joaquin valley, thence to San Francisco, and from there to Ashland, Ore., and on to Seattle.

QUITS RACE FOR MANAGER'S PLACE

R. V. Orbison to Retain His South Pasadena Post,
Informs Council

The special meeting of the city council held yesterday afternoon was not productive of a city manager to succeed W. H. Reeves, resigned, but it was announced by members of the council after the meeting that R. V. Orbison, city manager of South Pasadena, had notified them that he was not in a position to accept the appointment at this time, as it was offered to him. Due to the large projects pending in that city, over which he has supervision, the council there was loath to let him go and met the Glendale offer of salary and him to remain at South Pasadena for the present.

Instead of clarifying the atmosphere, this complication has muddled things up worse than before. It was understood that three of the councilmen were lined up for Orbison, and with him out of the race, where their support will fall is problematical. Ray L. Morrow, city attorney, informed the members that no legal action could be taken at yesterday's meeting, due to the fact that the council had adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning, and they were powerless to change it. As several of the members were unable to be present this morning, the meeting was called to order by Mayor Spencer Robinson and adjourned immediately. The council will convene again tomorrow at 10 o'clock in regular session.

The council met yesterday afternoon in committee of the whole, consequently outsiders were barred from hearing the proceedings. The conversation became rather loud at times, but what transpired and which candidates are favored is known to the councilmen only.

SOUTH BRAND BUILDING IS PURCHASED

Walter Jacke of San Jose
Buys Two Story Brick
At Price of $37,500

Another instance of outside capital seeking Glendale investments is seen in the purchase of the two-story brick building at 615-617 South Brand boulevard by Walter Jacke of San Jose, in association with E. R. Ripley of 1015 North Brand boulevard. The consideration was $37,500, sellers being Mrs. Josephine McManus and Mrs. Reiney, of Los Angeles.

The transaction was handled by Clark Johnston, with J. H. Burris, 200 West Broadway. Mr. Ripley states, adding that Walter Jacke is a wealthy real estate man of San Jose, a man he formerly knew well in Minneapolis and with whom he plans to be associated.

To Bring Family
Mr. Jacke contemplates moving to Glendale within two weeks, bringing his family and settling here permanently, so he may be close to his present investment and others to follow.

He will occupy one-half of the main floor of the building at the above address on South Brand boulevard, conducting a real estate and investment business.

The entire building will be remodeled, with the exception of the two modern apartments on the second floor, states Mr. Ripley, present leases expiring March 1.

WANTS $500,000 FOR HEART BALM

Coca-Cola King Defendant
In Beauty's Breach of Promise Action

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 30.—Beauty battled with age today in the famous De Bouchelle-Candler heart balm suit for a half million dollars.

The scene was a United States district court. Asa Candler, aged multi-millionaire Coca Cola king, played the role of age while Mrs. Onozima De Bouchelle, noted society leader of New Orleans, took the part of beauty. Breach of promise was the issue.

Mrs. De Bouchelle is asking $500,000 for her broken heart as a result of the millionaire's failure to marry her. They were to have been united in the fall of 1921, according to her petition, when he ruptured all relations and declared the wedding was off.

Spoke of Scandal
This was not until five days before the ceremony, she said. The guests had been invited, flowers ordered, the pastor had been engaged, her trousseau was completed—everything was ready but the bridegroom.

He broke the news in a letter, she said, asserting the marriage would be impossible. He spoke of scandal which had reached his ears.

TIMETABLES NOW BEING PREPARED

First Car Leaves Montrose
At 5:20 Sunday Morning,
It Is Announced

Service will start Sunday, February 3, over the new Glendale avenue electric line of the Glendale & Montrose Railway Company, states Preston L. Hatch, general manager.

The service will provide a twenty-minute headway in the peak period and a thirty-minute headway in the off period, connecting with the yellow cars of the Los Angeles Railway company at the junction of San Fernando and Verdugo roads, known as the Glendale park stop of the "E" line of the latter company.

Propose Schedule
These "E" cars will adhere to the same schedule, states Mr. Hatch, who is informed that the Los Angeles Railway company has proposed to the board of public utilities that "O" line cars as well, coming from South Main street, Los Angeles, be operated to this point. The latter cars will run from the junction to Los Angeles via the private right of way, Avenue 28, Dayton avenue, Avenue 20 and North Main street to Slanson avenue and Main street.

As the north terminal of the "O" line is at present located at Market street, adjoining the Temple block, states Mr. Hatch, the Los Angeles Railway company has proposed to the board of public utilities that this terminal be changed to Bellview, on Spring street just north of Sunset boulevard, to be used by cars not going to the South Verdugo and San Fernando road terminal of the Glendale & Montrose Railway company.

Traffic Relief
Should this proposal be adopted, Mr. Hatch points out, the "O" cars will be able to relieve the "E" cars of much of the local travel between the downtown Los Angeles district and the Verdugo-San Fernando terminal.

Schedules of the new line are now being printed, states Mr. Hatch, and will be out by the end of the week. The first car over the new line will leave Montrose 5:20 o'clock Sunday morning, arriving in Glendale at 5:50 o'clock and at the Glassell park or Verdugo-San Fernando terminal at 5:55 o'clock, over the Glendale avenue electric line. The last car at night will leave the south terminal at 12:45 o'clock at night, arriving at Glendale at 1 o'clock and at Montrose at 1:20 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. Hatch states that seven cars will operate on the new line for the time being, and that the schedule of district and half hour, with twenty-minute periods during the rush hours, will be tried out for the time being, subject to change later, if the volume of traffic warrants more or less service.

Berlin Police Guard Reparations Experts

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—Extra police guards were furnished by the government today to members of the first committee of reparations experts headed by General Charles G. Dawes, who arrived last night from Paris. For the most part the committee was hailed as a harbinger of hope, but some reactionary newspapers, notably the Deutsche Zeitung, attacked it.

For fear that fanatics might attack members of the committee, the government furnished police body guards to the members.

FORD LEADING IN BID FOR SHOALS

Power Plant Decision Near
As Committee Figures
Terms of Sale

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Muscle Shoals went on the auction block today and prospects appeared favorable that the famous power plant will have a new owner soon.

The House military affairs committee went into secret session today to consider final disposition of this great plant on which the government has spent more than $100,000,000 and to draft the legislation necessary to turn it over to a private operator under sale or lease.

Ford Leads Bidders
Henry Ford is leading the bidders for the entire plant, with two rivals, the Associated Southern Power companies, headed by the Tennessee Electric Power company, and Elton H. Hooker of Niagara Falls, president of the Hooker Electro-Chemical company.

Ford has offered to take the properties under a 100-year lease paying therefor $100,000,000 during the life of the lease and to keep up government interest charges, with guarantees to manufacture 40,000 tons of fertilizer nitrates from which 200,000 tons of commercial fertilizers could be manufactured annually.

Bank Bandits Secure $10,000 In Bold Raid

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 30.—The Farmers' bank of Jasper, Tenn., near here, was robbed of $10,000 by two bandits today who followed the cashier into the building when he opened the doors. They escaped in an automobile.

MAKE OVERTURES FOR NEW ENTENTE

Premier Macdonald Eager to Strengthen Relations
With French

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald, head of Great Britain's new labor government, has made overtures to France for new rules strengthening the entente cordiale, it was learned this afternoon.

It was the labor government's answer in face of accusations by laborite leaders that France is militaristic and is sowing the seed of future discord in Europe.

Unusual speed is being used by the labor cabinet in dealing with domestic and foreign problems. Those tackled so far include: Domestic strike troubles; housing shortage; unemployment; reparations and debts; recognition of Russia; dispute with France.

GREER FAILS TO SHOW IN COURT

Chauffeur For Miss Normand
Missing, Report; May Issue Warrant

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—Horace A. Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, failed to appear in justice court today when his preliminary hearing on a charge of shooting Courtland S. Dines was called. The hearing was continued for a week because Dines is still too ill to appear in court.

Justice Hanby held up forfeiture of Greer's $10,000 bail on the statement of Greer's attorneys that he would appear in court later in the day.

May Order Arrest
Later it was announced that unless Greer appears early this afternoon an order for his arrest will be ordered.

Fear that Greer may have jumped his bail and fled from the country to save Miss Normand from another court appearance in this case was expressed openly by Justice Hanby and Deputy District Attorney Heinke.

When Greer had not appeared in court by noon Heinke asked a bench warrant to be issued for him. The prosecutor also asked that his bail, when found, be set at $50,000.

One of Greer's attorneys retorted that if that was the attitude of the district attorney's office he would demand the case be dismissed because of lack of evidence.

PRESIDENT'S PROBE FUND PURPOSELY 'DETAINED'

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The Senate late this afternoon, after hours of sensational debate, decided that ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall and Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby acted without authority and in violation of law when they leased Teapot Dome and the Elks Hills naval reserves to H. F. Sinclair and E. L. Doheny.

This expression of the Senate's opinion was obtained in the defeat of an amendment to the Walsh resolution offered by Senator Lenroot, Republican of Wisconsin, which would have stricken from that resolution the words that charged Fall and Denby with acting illegally.

This first test vote in the naval reserve lease scandal, presaged that the Walsh resolution itself would pass by a considerable majority later in the day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Within an hour after it met today the Senate was again plunged into a turmoil of bitter debate over the oil leasing scandals—started when Senator Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, charged that the leasing of Teapot Dome and Elks Hills reserves to the Sinclair and Doheny interests were "made in utter disregard for law."

"The executive order (issued by President Harding) transferring the reserves from the navy to the interior department, was absolutely and completely without authority and in open defiance of the law," declared Norris while a packed chamber and thronged galleries hung on every word.

Prepared by Denby
Edwin Denby, secretary of the navy, personally directed the making of the construction contracts with the Doheny and Sinclair interests, whereby the oil companies built storage tanks and harbor improvements for the navy in exchange for royalty oil, it was developed today at the hearing of the House naval affairs committee, which launched an independent investigation into the naval policy of oil leases.

Previously it had been understood that subordinates in the navy department had handled this work.

While Norris held the floor with a vitriolic attack on the legality of the acts of the Harding administration, other developments came fast.

Senate Blocks Move
Chief among these was the action of the Senate appropriations committee, composed of nine Republicans and six Democrats, in voting to withhold from President Coolidge the $100,000 he asked to pay Silas H. Strawn and Thomas W. Gregory as special counsel in the Teapot Dome case unless he sent the appointments to be confirmed by the Senate.

The committee's action reflected a general feeling in the Senate of "pique" against the president for having made his appointments while the Senate was still debating the resolutions granting him the authority.

Sensors attending the executive meeting were reported to have expressed their displeasure freely at what they considered the "president's slight" of the Senate.

The action of the committee was unanimous, all the more surprising since its members include such staunch supporters of the administration as Senators Smoot of Utah, Lenroot of Wisconsin and Curtis of Kansas.

Several developments
The action was proposed by McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee.
Other developments were:

DEATHS - FUNERALS
JOHN EDWARD OLDRIGHT
The Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial park, modeled after Stoke Poges, England, in the churchyard of which Gray wrote his immortal
"Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard," was the scene yesterday afternoon of the funeral services of John Edward Old-right, for over fifty years a prominent resident of Austin, Texas, and member of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club, who died Saturday at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, where he and Mrs. Oldright made their home.
Marked by the dignified simplicity of Mr. Oldright's life, the services were conducted by Elder
R. W. Munson, chaplain of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.
Scriptural reading and prayer were followed by an obituary sketching the deceased's life as a well known Texan, veteran of the Confederate army, captain of light artillery in the Texas state guard, bank clerk, internal revenue officer, scholar and traveler.
During the service beautiful music was given by Miss Lillian Munson and Mrs. A. Bell Johnson. Accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, Miss Munson sang "Lead, Kindly Light" and later the two sang as a duet "Sweet Be Thy Rest."
Attending the services with Mrs. Oldright were her nephew and niece Mr. and Mrs. C. L.
Felter of San Diego.
A large company of friends and beautiful floral pieces bespoke the love and sympathy of friends.
Cremation followed. The Jewel City Undertaking Company was in charge of arrangements.

MRS. FRANCES E. BALL

Entertain Writer
Miss Nellie E. Gardner of New York, magazine writer, was entertained at luncheon yesterday at the home of Mrs. John W. Sharpe, 109 West Loma avenue. Miss Gardner has been enjoying a four months' tour of the west, arriving by a northern route, making stops at Seattle, San Francisco and various points of interest en route to southern California. She expects to leave Thursday morning via the Southern Pacific railway for New Orleans, and will continue the homeward journey from there by water.
Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. George
A. Hough, Jr., who was formerly Miss Clara Sharpe, were fellow-students at Columbia university, in the school of journalism, taking their degrees in the same class, and she is a frequent visitor at the Hough home in New Bedford, Mass. She spent several months in Russia, in the interest of the American Relief association, in 1921, and her magazine articles covering her experiences and Bolshevism have been widely read.

Movies, Autos, Arraigned As Contributing Causes To Juvenile Delinquency

A forceful arraignment of the "movies," as responsible in a great degree for the crime wave which is sweeping America, and incidentally contributing largely to the overwhelming problem of juvenile delinquency, together with a moving appeal for the "American boy, our most highly prized asset," featured a wonderful address given by Judge Edwin F. Hahn of the superior court at the annual banquet of the Federated Church Brotherhoods of Glendale valley, held at the Congregational church last night.

Judge Hahn's address, delivered immediately after the serving of the banquet, owing to a jury being locked up in his department of the Superior awaiting his return to announce their decision or failure to reach an argument, was listened to with rapt attention by the 300 church laymen of Glendale and vicinity who were present at the most successful banquet and meeting the Federated Brotherhood has ever held.

The banquet, served under the supervision of the Congregational church women, was very fine, and enjoyed so thoroughly by the feasting brotherhood that over $41 in "tips" was presented to the ladies when the meal was concluded. Prior to the banquet the present joined in singing the Doxology. Rev. C. M. Calderwood gave the invocation.

Six Judges Present

Seated at the speakers' table on the platform, grouped around George D. McDill, president of the Federation, were six judges of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county, Edwin F. Hahn; Harry R. Archibald, of South Pasadena, in charge of the juvenile department for 1924; C. W. Guerin of Pomona; Ira F. Thompson; John L. Fleming of Santa Monica; Hartley Shaw of Glendale and his father, Lucien Shaw, former Chief Justice of the California Supreme Court; Rev. L. J. Millikan, pastor of the Broadway Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Floyd Mercer, director of religious education at the Central Christian church; Fred Bull, secretary of the United Brotherhoods of Pasadena, and A. J. Niemeyer, president of the Protestant Welfare association of Los Angeles county.

The nominating committee, of which A. W. Tower was chairman, reported the following nominations for officers for the ensuing year: president, Frank C. Weller; vice-presidents, R. L. Kitterman and J. H. Garnsey; secretary, P. N. Bennett; treasurer, G. F. Daugherty. The nominees were unanimously elected to the respective offices by the members.

Judge Hahn's address was undoubtedly the finest exposition of the juvenile problem ever heard in this city. During 1923 Judge Hahn presided over the juvenile department of the Superior court, the facts which he presented came from first hand knowledge of his subject. The gradual change in the system during the past twenty-five years from one of punishment to one of correction help, and guidance was pointed out.

"We must admit," said Judge Hahn, "that the problem of the crime wave and its attendant juvenile delinquency is as great, if not greater, here in Los Angeles county, as in any part of the United States. When Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver, so-called father of the juvenile court, was here last spring he told us that there are probably only one or two courts in the United States handling more boys and girls than we were. More than 3,000 cases came before the juvenile court in 1923.

"A man prominent in the film world the other day complained to me that today every one was taking a slam at the movies. Now, I don't want to slam the movies or anything else because some one else is doing it, but I tell you that as long as the present kind of pictures are displayed before the youth of our country, the movies need slapping, and until they are slammed into acquiescence to our demands that the objectionable features be eliminated, I am going to continue slapping them. Forty-seven per cent of the inmates of our boys and girls 'correction' schools come from Los Angeles county, and a large percentage of these are influenced by the deeds of their heroes and villains portrayed in the movies. The boys stand before the trial judge with so much nonchalance that they relate the holding up of a drug store just as if they were describing a baseball game."

"The American youth is losing all sense of moral right. They tell me that they don't think anything more about robbing a store than they do of throwing a snowball. Where is it going to end unless we get behind the movement to stop these pictures? Another damaging influence is the disrespect which the movies foster as regards the reverence for the sanctity of womanhood. Boys don't look upon women now as we did when we were boys, and I tell you gentlemen that is one of our greatest problems today. As long as we have the 'two gun man' on the screen we will have the 'two gun youth.' I am not an alarmist, but it is proven day after day in the juvenile court."

Two other features of our modern life that tended to delinquency among the boys and girls was the automobile and the period of prosperity which is sweeping the country. The cars with the opportunities which they afford for 'petting parties' are undermining the moral standards of our girlhood and womanhood, and next to the movies, declared the judge, form the greatest problem today. Prosperity, as it affects the poor boy, who does not see why he cannot have the pleasures of his richer acquaintances, works harm in that it leads the youngsters into petty thievery, and from there it is only a step to highway robbery. "The boy of today lacks much that we had, and is confronted with many temptations that we were not called upon to face," said Judge Hahn. "But almost without exception we find after scratching the surface, that underneath there is something worth while in every American boy, and it is that element which we must foster, and save him for a useful, upright American citizen."

President McDill introduced Judge Hartley Shaw who in turn presented his father and his associate justices of the Superior court, all of whom made short speeches. Judge Robert H. Scott of the township of Los Angeles was also called upon.

Fred Bull, secretary of the United Brotherhood of Pasadena, gave an interesting talk on the establishment of Pacific Lodge, a home for boys between the ages of twelve and fourteen years. A. J. Niemeyer, president of the Protestant Welfare association of Los Angeles county also spoke on the work of this institution, its needs, and its desires. He pointed that there was a great field for the brotherhoods of Glendale, and support was pledged him by the members present.

MUSICAL EXPERT WILL SPEAK HERE

Dr. Sigmund Spaeth to Give Address at Community Singing Program

Glendale folks will have a chance to spend an evening in real music at the big community sing at the high school Thursday evening, January 31. V. M. Hollister, chairman of the music committee of Community Service, urges everyone to come early in order to secure a seat.

With such an entertainer as Dr. Sigmund Spaeth as the feature speaker of the evening, and no admission charge, the auditorium is sure to be crowded. Dr. Spaeth is conducting a unique experiment in stimulating musical enthusiasm all over the country. He believes that the greatest necessity in the musical field today is to gain the attention of the so-called non-music lover and turn his inherent appreciation to the better things in music.

During Music Week at Washington, Dr. Spaeth spoke at Keith's theatre, and his novel contrivance was voted one of the best on the bill.

Alexander Stewart, well-known music director of the west, will have charge of the music.

SINGERS HELP IN ORATORIO PLANS

Glendale Music Club Draws Recruits From Other Organizations

The Oratorio Section of the Glendale Music club, which meets every Tuesday night in the auditorium at the old high school, was the magnet that last night brought together Glendale's most talented singers. Members of the Madrigal club and the Glendale Choral society joined with the section last night to work on Mendelssohn's "Elijah," which is to be given late in March.

John Smalutin, who is directing the oratorio work, was greatly pleased over the group of singers he had to work with last night and is looking forward to the presentation of "Elijah" being one of the biggest musical events ever staged in Glendale.

Burglars Loot Home In Owners' Absence

The home of A. Ross, 1841 South Princeton avenue, was burglarized last night between the hours of 8 and 11 o'clock, while the family was absent.

Entrance was gained by forcing the rear door. The house was thoroughly ransacked, but the definite amount of the loss will not be known until this afternoon when the check is completed. Lieutenant Louis Nunn and Officer R. Baugh investigated the theft.

SENATE IN ROW ON OIL LEASES

Senator Norris In Attack on Action; Hold Up Money For Probe

(Continued from Page 1.) committee declined to accept the word of the four physicians attending ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, that his health is so precarious that he cannot appear for questioning and voted to send three medical experts chosen by Senators Walsh and Smoot to his bedside to make an additional examination.

Two—E. L. Doherty, who leased Elk Hills reserve from Fall shortly after loaning him $100,000, made an unsuccessful effort to appear before the committee to testify. The committee instructed him to come back Friday.

Three—The naval affairs committee of the House launched an independent investigation to ascertain what benefit the navy derived out of the leases—Secretary Denby having defended them as beneficial to the navy.

Four—Admiral L. E. Gregory, of the navy, testified before the House committee that Secretary of the Navy Denby and not subordinates, directed the making of construction contracts with the Doherty and Sinclair interests whereby they built storage tanks and harbor improvements for the navy in exchange for royalty oil.

Debate of Interest

The senate debate, however, held the center of the stage. Norris not only charged that the leases were without a standing under the law but he declared it was an executive usurpation of authority that would abolish the legislative branch of the government and "wreck any government."

"No lawyer can defend or uphold that (Harding) order issued in defiance of an express act of congress," Norris said. He declared the Doherty contract was an expenditure of public funds in the form of oil for the erection of public works. He said the power of appropriating government funds rests solely with congress and that the Doherty contract was therefore illegal.

Fate of Steamer Is Shrouded In Mystery

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 30.—Fear that the Holland steamer Papirus, formerly the Susquehanna, sailing under the American flag, may have met an unexpected fate similar to the Cyclops, was expressed here today. The Papirus, a 3000-ton steamer, loaded with an alcohol consignment to Halifax, started from Antwerp on December 8. She has not been heard from and the belief was expressed that she sank with all hands on board.

Denby Cancels Plans to Inspect Warships

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Secretary of the Navy Denby has announced that as a result of the Teapot dome oil scandal he would forego his inspection trip of the fleet, now in Panama for its winter maneuvers, leaving Charleston, S. C., on February 10. Denby had planned to accompany 115 newspaper editors for three weeks' cruise. The editors will take the trip, however, he stated.

U. S. Sleuths Ordered to Halt Fall Flight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall and Tom Johnson, his ranch foreman, have been under surveillance by department of justice agents since January 20 to prevent them from leaving the country, Senator Willis, Republican of Ohio, announced in the senate yesterday afternoon in defense of Attorney-General Daugherty's connection with the Teapot dome scandal.

Willis said orders were telegraphed to department of justice agents in New Orleans to put Fall under guard there before he came to Washington. Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, announced subsequently that similar orders were given to the governor of Louisiana. January 20 was the date upon which Archie Roosevelt, testifying before the senate public lands committee, said he had resigned from the Sinclair Oil company because he was suspicious of fraud in the Teapot dome lease.

PICK PRESIDENT OF BOYS' LEAGUE

Students Roll Up Majority For Leslie Lavelle In Election

Polling a large majority over his nearest competitors, Leslie Lavelle was elected president of the Boys' League at Glendale Union High school yesterday. Richard Ryan and Read Stearman were elected vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Les is well known throughout the school for his executive ability. He has been secretary of boys' athletics twice and class representative once. He has also held many important positions in his class. His athletic ability includes all the sports. He was star end on the football team for two seasons, he goes out for basketball, he has had two years' experience on the baseball nine, and heaves the discus in track.

Capable Officials

"Dick" Ryan, new vice-prexy, can readily fill Lavelle's place at any time. He has also had much executive experience backing him up. Read Stearman knows how to handle minutes and money, and will be capable of holding down the secretary-treasurer berth.

Th results of the votes:
President—Leslie Lavelle, 344;
Ronald West, 143; Glen Roberts, 87; Irvin Carver, 43.
Vice-President—Richard Ryan, 321; Marion Morrison, 299.
Secretary-Treasurer—Read Stearman, 400; Ellsworth D. Parq, 209.

SERVICE TO HELP BUYERS, SELLERS

Realty Board's System Sets
New Standards In Advertising

Advertising in its various phases is the means by which a commodity is brought to the attention of a customer, according to S. E. Kinch, who is handling the Glendale Realty Board's "Listing Service" publicity campaign.

"There is little difference," Mr. Kinch said, "between advertising a parcel of property and a popular brand of breakfast food, other than the scope the advertising covers. However, ethics in advertising is a principle of general application, and the Listing Service which we will put into operation here in Glendale February 1 will set new standards in what may be called ethical advertising. A property advertised correctly and truthfully will be the first requisite of the success of this system."

This correct advertising of the listed property will be one of the most important features of the system. A great advantage will be gained by the seller in knowing that the property he is listing under this service plan will have immediate and consistent advertising by the listing members.

Buyer Is Protected
"The buying public gains a similar advantage, realizing that all property so advertised, under the rules governing the 'Listing Service,' will be accurately described, and the advertising will follow prescribed rules to make it absolutely dependable. Hence, under the banner of advertising, the seller and the buyer have the assurance of a square deal, and the co-operative effort of a vast selling organization comprising the 114 members of the Glendale Realty Board."

Kleever Kiddies Play Proves Burbank Hit

A packed house greeted the presentation last night at Burbank of "Santa Claus in Japan," the colorful musical comedy produced by the Burbank branch of the Woods' School of Kleever Kiddies.

Mrs. Nanno Woods was assisted back stage by her two daughters, Dorothy and Kathleen, and at the piano by her new assistant, Mrs. Edna Graham; also by Charles Garman, who took the part of Santa Claus, and by the Actors' orchestra who furnished incidental music.

At the close of the performance last night Mrs. Woods received an ovation from a theatre manager to put on the play some Friday evening in the near future.

Business, Professional Clubwomen Lay Plans For Work of Coming Season

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.

Basing prediction on the spirited enthusiasm evident last night at the dinner of the Glendale Business and Professional Women's club at the Egyptian Village, this club is to compose, with the Tuesday Afternoon club and Glendale College club, a club trio of which Glendale or any other city might well be proud.

Under the leadership of the president, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, the active interest that featured the organization days of the club has been renewed and the thirty-five women attending the dinner last night joined heartily in every plan for the coming months.

Dinner was served in the club dining room at the village, and the artistic surroundings and exclusive atmosphere of this room contributed greatly to the success of the evening.

The program of the evening was delightfully informal, being a happy combination of business and entertainment. Dr. Russell presided over events of the evening, opening the program by asking each woman present to stand, give her nickname, formal name and place of business. Some went back several years to recall nicknames of childhood, others gave nicknames that they still claim, while others declared they had never been fortunate enough to be called by other than the name given them at birth.

Names of Officers

Introduction of officers took place early in the evening. There were several new appointments announced, and these, with others, made previously, compose the following board: Dr. Jessie A. Russell, president; Mrs. E. U. Moyses, first vice-president; Mrs. Mary Baxter, second vice-president; Miss Lois Mock, recording secretary; Mrs. Josephine Woolsey, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Anita Anderson, treasurer.

Announcements made by Dr. Russell as to chairmen were: Program affairs in the hands of the president and two vice-presidents and specially appointed committees; membership, Mrs. M. E. Lindsay; occupational, Mrs. C. H. Kirkman; Miss Clara Sayre; ways and means, Mrs. J. E. Phillips; publicity, Miss Neva Veysey; Gertrude Gibbs and Katherine Sinks; friendship, Mrs. Mahel L. Tigg. Appointments of chairmen of hospitality, courtesy and legislation have not been made.

Of interest to all business women in Glendale will be the decision of the club to hold informal luncheon meetings Tuesday noon of each week. These meetings are to be strictly informal, with two or three tables reserved for business women and friends in some well-known eating place. The first luncheon is to be Tuesday noon, February 5, at the Egyptian Village.

The entertainment last night was furnished by Mrs. Evelyn G. Pierce, one of Glendale's talented dramatic readers and worthy high priestess of Omar Shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem. Mrs. Pierce, who has a wide circle of friends and is justly praised for her cleverness as an entertainer, never received a warmer greeting than last night.

Her first number was Foley's "The Parting," a home piece that tells of a boy's leaving home and of the sadness of his father, who finally persuades him not to leave "me and ma." Mrs. Pierce's interpretation of the heart-broken father pleading with the son was well done and she was called back for an encore.

The eternal feminine was the subject of the next sketch, "At the Box Office," in which Mrs. Pierce portrayed a perfectly feminine type that can be found in any line before a theatre. Later she gave "The Irish Girl Who Worked for a Fat Lady" and by request her well-known "White Sox" sketch.

Those attending the dinner were Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Virginia Freeman, Dr. Clara E. Hervey, Miss Gertrude Gibbs, Katherine V. Sinks, Helen Bulette, Elizabeth D. Stevens, Nora E. Slocum, Mrs. Grace Chohe, Mrs. Josephine M. Woolsey, Mrs. E. U. Moyses, June Armstrong, Alma F. Smith, Mrs. H. Brinkoff, Mrs. Alice Bufkin, Helen M. Torbitt, Mrs. E. Williams, Myrtle B. Knapp, Mrs. R. G. Addison, Mrs. M. Baxter, Cora B. Hodgson, Mrs. Loretta Williams, Mrs. Anita K. Anderson, Edna M. Platt, Grace V. Harrison, Mrs. Madeline Van Wyck, Mrs. Daisy D. George, Mary E. Lindsay, H. May Bulette and Mrs. Mrs. C. H. Kirkman.

The next club meeting will be on the second Tuesday in March.

GLENDALE AVE. IN DOUBLE VICTORY

A car driven by Mrs. T. T. Stanford very obligingly developed a short in the wiring directly in front of fire house No. 1 yesterday afternoon.

She notified the operator on duty and the blaze was quickly extinguished by the use of chemicals before any damage had resulted.

COMMENT

That's All
Prosperity to Continue
Impressions of Glendale
Summer and Swimming
Keep Streets in Repair

By Gil A. Cowan

Continued prosperity is predicted by representatives attending the western sectional meeting of the Chambers of Commerce of the United States. E. F. Sanders of Glendale, secretary of the local chamber, is among those in attendance, and what a wonderful message of optimism he could give those present if the occasion presented itself.

Glendale is about the most prosperous place we know of because its people will it to be so. It simply grows, and grows, and grows, because the great majority of the people are loyal to their home city and its institutions. Few there are who would sell out Glendale to any other municipality, or even trade this for other opportunities.

Indeed, the more one sees of Glendale the better it is liked. For one thing, it has a class of people who are matchless when it comes to law-abiding, peace-loving citizenship. It has business men who, in keeping their shops, find that Glendale is kind to them and returns them full measure of trade. And it has civic institutions, such as any community, large or small, may well be proud of.

Think of a man who left here eleven years ago and returned this week to see his home town, so completely altered that he was lost. We doubt that any city in a decade has been more changed than Glendale without being wrecked, or deserted, or something else equally catastrophic.

In other columns the rather remarkable story of Lewis McGee, chief radio man in the United States navy, is given, and the writer failed to note many impressions of his "home port" of Glendale, although we are not situated on the seacoast.

Glendale, without the cold and slush of eastern centers, impresses him as an ideal place in which to live; Glendale, without the mud and foot deep found in Constantinople; Glendale, an American city, cosmopolitan in character, but not motley in appearance; Glendale, where no poverty exists as in the centers of Europe; Glendale, a city of opportunity!

Those are impressions which are attending upon the homecoming of those who travel the world over. And they always come back.

Summer is coming, and an occasional picture of swimming stars in the newspapers calls to the attention of all who stop to think for a minute the desirability of having plenty of plunges for the people to go bathing.

It has been the writer's observation that there is nothing quite so popular, nothing quite so healthful, nothing quite so cheap for the good resulting than bathing pools.

Clean, sanitary tanks, municipally operated, are the best things to be had, outside of schools, in giving the young people of a community the opportunity of their happiest days.

Unfortunately, southern California has very few of "the old swimmin'" holes that Riley wrote about. And, if this is man-made country, as we claim, let us provide the plunges necessary to accommodate all who would and should swim.

The other day we had occasion to visit a neighbor city, somewhat smaller than Glendale. It is potentially a wealthy town, but the citizens, or, perhaps, the officials, have woefully neglected the improvement of the streets. It seemed as though the roads were rougher than none at all.

Under no circumstances does Glendale want to neglect the improvement of streets. Citizens should be eager to sign for paving and pay therefor, for there is nothing quite so disgusting as rough roadways, especially close to the heart of the business district.

And public utilities tearing up pavements should be prosecuted vigorously if they do not replace the same in the condition which they were found.

When in the army secret service work, during the World war, the writer had occasion to study propaganda, particularly its effect. Like argument, it must be based on a sound foundation, or it is ineffective. To succeed, it must be impersonal, otherwise it is quickly labeled and classified. And it must be realized that propaganda is a more powerful weapon for defense than offense.

When we see organizations, such as that of Edward Bok, being built to spread propaganda for such an issue as the League of Nations, we are quick to perceive the opportunity for boomerang effect.

Opposition is only stirred to action when stung by the insidious subtleties of propaganda and, in its anger, sweeps both the good and bad before it.

And to hear first-hand information from an American who has lived in Europe for the last few years, it is wise for this nation to remain aloof from any entangling alliances.

While we hate to believe it true, the Yankee has been, and is, an unpopular person "over there," not only from the standpoint of the allies, whom we helped to win the war, but the defeated, as well. Such is life in the small world.

CASE GOES TO JURY

Opportunity Points to Walnut Square

"Glendale's Newest Subdivision"

A 20 acre tract that is strategically located near the active industrial and business development of San Fernando Road; located just west of the S. P. tracks on rich, level soil adjoining the city limits of both Glendale and Burbank, formerly known as the Peter Purrier Orchard, and commands a wonderful view of the mountains.

OPENING SALE STARTS FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1st

As every lot is underpriced compared to surrounding values—a quick sale is assured. Therefore it will pay investors to make reservations tomorrow.

There Are Just 84 Lots—

Every lot is oversize, being from 50 to 62½ feet wide and from 150 to 169 feet deep. One of the distinguishing and most beautiful features of Walnut Square is the wonderful grove of walnut trees which entirely covers the tract; and every lot will have one or more of these attractive, full-bearing trees.

The improvements will include water, gas, electricity and graded streets. The parkings have so been arranged that they will be beautifully shaded by rows of large walnut trees. This property is near transportation, being one block from San Fernando Road and two blocks to electric car line.

City Council Minutes

Following are the minutes of the meeting of the Glendale City Council, as prepared by the city clerk:

Council assembled at 10 o'clock a. m. January 23. All members present. Minutes of January 24 read and approved.

Opening of Bids

In accordance with call, bids were publicly opened, examined and declared for the improvement of Kenilworth avenue, from the following bidders: Frank R. Mosher, E. L. Fleming, Pacific Paving Company, W. J. Curran, Ducey & Breitenstein, Cornwell & Henderson.

On motion of Councilman Horn, seconded by Councilman Hall, duly carried, bids were referred to city engineer for checking and report.

Justin and Kenneth
In accordance with call, bids were publicly opened, examined and declared for the improvement of Justin avenue and Kenneth road, from the following bidders: Frank R. Mosher, E. L. Fleming, Pacific Paving Company, W. J. Curran, Ducey & Breitenstein, Cornwell & Henderson.

On motion of Councilman Hall, seconded by Councilman Horn, duly carried, bids were referred to city engineer for checking and report.

Maps Adopted

Councilman Kimlin introduced a resolution entitled, "A resolution adopting map of Tract 8055 and accepting on behalf of the public the avenues, streets, alleys and public places shown thereon," which was read, and on his motion, seconded by Councilman Hall, the same was numbered Resolution No. 2269 and adopted.

Councilman Hall introduced a resolution entitled, "A resolution adopting map of Tract 8085 and accepting on behalf of the public the avenues, streets, alleys and public places shown thereon," which was read, and on his motion, seconded by Councilman Horn, the same was numbered Resolution No. 2270 and adopted.

Annexation Petition
A petition signed by electors, asking that a special election be called to determine whether property described therein should be annexed to the city of Glendale, was read. On motion of Councilman Horn, seconded by Councilman Hall, duly carried, petition was referred to city clerk for checking and report.

City clerk reported that petition was checked and as shown by the registration of voters of Los Angeles county on January 28, 1924, there were 102 qualified electors residing within the territory embraced within said petition, and that said petition was signed by thirty-four qualified electors, and the same was more than one-quarter of number and therefore was sufficient. On motion of Councilman Horn, seconded by Councilman Hall, petition and report were approved and the city attorney was instructed to draft the necessary ordinance calling said election.

Improve Rock Glen Avenue
Petition signed by property owners, asking that Rock Glen avenue from Eagle Rock boundary to a point 428 feet west be improved with grading, water pipe and three-inch macadam, was read. Same having been referred to city engineer for checking, was returned showing 88 per cent. On motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Horn, duly carried, city attorney and city engineer were instructed to draft the necessary proceedings.

Extension of Time
On motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Davis, duly carried, Chester Johnson was granted an extension of fifteen days on his contract for the improvement of Brand boulevard.

Charles A. Parker
Communication from Charles A. Parker, in which he called attention to provisions of the electrical code, and the orders of the building department that circuits were overloaded, was read and ordered filed.

Schick Test
Communication from the Broadway Parent-Teachers' Association, Broadway Fathers' Auxiliary and Acacia Avenue Parent-Teachers' Association, in which they called attention to proposed Schick test, was read and upon motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Horn, duly carried, ordered filed.

Temporary Building
On motion of Councilman Hall, seconded by Councilman Horn, W. C. Seal was granted permission to maintain a real estate office building at Brand and Los Feliz road, of frame construction, for a period of sixty days upon the filing of a proper bond.

Pacific Electric Busses
On motion of Councilman Horn, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, duly carried, city engineer was instructed to take up with the Pacific Electric Railway and the Pacific Electric Land Company, with a view of obtaining more frequent service at peak, the matter of ascertaining when new busses were to be installed in accordance with promise, and to call attention to stopping at the northeast corner of Brand and Broadway during the erection of the new building.

Freight Traffic
Chief of police called attention to Pacific Electric using the tracks during the daylight hours to haul freight. On motion of Councilman Horn, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, duly carried, chief of police and city manager were instructed to secure necessary evidence in order that action might be taken.

Incinerators
On motion of Councilman Horn, seconded by Councilman Hall, application for permit from the Russell-Pierce Furniture Company and Roy Johnston to erect incinerators was denied.

Treasurer's Office
Communication from the city controller, calling attention to need of extra help in the treasurer's office, was read and upon motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Horn, duly carried, ordered filed.

Fire District Ordinance
On motion of Councilman Hall, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, ordinance drafted, setting aside Fire District No. 1 on San Fernando road between Los Angeles street and Milford, was referred to building superintendent and city attorney to redraft.

Demand
On motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Horn, demand of Pioneer Printing Company in the sum of $152.50 for election expense was allowed and ordered paid.

Ordinances Offered
Councilman Hall introduced an ordinance entitled, "An ordinance of the city of Glendale providing for the holding of a special election on the 11th day of March, 1924, for voting on the annexation to the city of Glendale of certain territory designated as Vine street district and giving notice of such election as provided by law," which was read and laid on the table.

Councilman Horn introduced an ordinance entitled, "An ordinance amending Ordinance No. 529, passed January 12, 1922, and entitled 'An Ordinance of the City of Glendale establishing a residential district, an industrial district, and four commercial districts in said city; regulating and restricting the location and locations of and the maintenance and carrying on of industries, trades and businesses in said city; providing for a Residential, industrial and commercial district map of said city; prescribing the penalty for the violation hereof; and repealing certain ordinances, by adding thereto a new section to be numbered Section 42z,' which was read and laid on the table.

Councilman Kimlin introduced a resolution, "A resolution appropriating available revenue not included in the annual budget," which was read, and on his motion, seconded by Councilman Horn, the same was numbered Resolution No. 2271 and adopted.

Quitclaim Deed
On motion of Councilman Hall, seconded by Councilman Horn, quitclaim deed of Ernest Montgomerie, a single man, to the city

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

So wide is the scope of "The Temple of Venus," now showing at the Glendale theatre, that it covers the earth and the air and the waters beneath—but all that it covers is as taught to what it uncovers, 1000 beautiful American bathing girls, dancing girls and extras, led by the glorious Phyllis Haver and charming Mary Philbin, with David Butler as the male lead.

The shades of the maids of yesteryear are contrasted with the substance of the maids of today, in "The Temple of Venus," which concerns itself with mythology, ancient and modern—and there is little or nothing to choose between the former and the latter. The film is finely photographed and the subterranean views, particularly, are colorful beyond words. Every foot of the film is packed with a vivacious and unique entertainment.

Average depth of the ocean is more than two miles.

of Glendale, dated the 17th day of January, 1924, was accepted and clerk directed to record same. On motion of Councilman Horn, seconded by Councilman Hall, duly carried, Council adjourned to meet in adjourned regular session at 4 o'clock p. m.

THE GATEWAY

The Canadian Rockies form the background for "Unseeing Eyes," the new Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan picture, showing at the Gateway theatre for today only, with a cast including Lionel Barrymore, Seena Owen and Louis Wolheim. The story is adapted from a book by Arthur Stringer by Bayard Veiller and directed by E. H. Griffith. Joseph Urban, noted scenic artist, made the settings. "Unseeing Eyes" is produced on a magnificent scale that stirs the spectator. The snow scenes of the Northwest are alone worth going miles to see.

The story of Miriam Helston and Conrad Dean and their airplane flight across Canada to rescue her brother from a band of outthroats, the subsequent perils which overtake them in the heavy snows of the northwest, their struggle to reach the brother and the thrilling complications that result make the picture a stirring tale of adventure and romance.

PLACED IN DUNGEON

CARSON CITY, Nev., Jan. 30.—As a result of their "strike" against work on the new gas cells being constructed for the execution of persons condemned to death in Nevada, three convicts at the state prison here were placed in the dungeon today.

KIWANIS HONOR NEW EXECUTIVES

Brilliant Ball Inaugurates A. L. Baird's Regime As Club President

Honors of an inaugural ball were accorded newly elected officers of the Glendale Kiwanis club last night at the Tuesday afternoon clubhouse, where sixty-five couples were entertained at dancing and by a talented program.

The affair took place in the ball room of the attractive clubhouse, and from the first dance number furnished by the clever Plantation orchestra to the final entertainment feature and buffet supper it was a real delight.

During the dance program there were novelty dances and vocal numbers by Glen Dolberg, Miss Eriss and a colored quartet, and a clever sketch by two cunning little misses, twin sisters, who appeared at the recent Wampanoag frolic in San Francisco.

Presents Officers
It was W. A. Horn who was selected to introduce the newly-elected officers. He introduced A. L. Baird, president; Dr. T. C. Young, first vice-president; Albert W. Perry, second vice-president; Herman Nelson, treasurer; Don H. Webb, secretary; F. W. Brown, Frank Echols, Frank Fox, W. L. Truitt, Emil Kiefer, Lyman P. Clark and W. G. Bode, directors; Fred Deal, lieutenant governor of the district, and A. L. Ferguson, district trustee.

At midnight a buffet supper was served with Comalt as a feature, furnished by F. W. Brown.

W. G. Bode was chairman of the committee to be complimented in the success of the affair. His assistants were Harry G. MacBain, Ray L. Galvin, F. W. Brown, E. C. Herring, Harry L. Hall, Albert W. Perry and W. A. Horn. Harry MacBain was in charge of plans for the buffet supper.

Editor, The News, Glendale, Calif.
Dear Sir:
Thanks for your kindly mention of Kiwanis in your paper from time to time. Our organization appreciates your valuable co-operation in helping to make the serious civic and social service work of Kiwanis effective.

Kiwanis is a representative influence, organized for the advancement of public welfare in its many phases, for the stimulation of morals, charities, health, better citizenship, civic improvement and obedience to law and all the tenets of better living.

A good newspaper is also an influence for these objectives. Working together, the joint influence cannot help but result in accomplishment. We hope that Kiwanis will always continue to have your co-operation.

Whenever you happen to be in Chicago, we wish that you might find time to drop in and see us.

Very sincerely yours,
CHAS. REYNOLDS,
Department of Publicity and Education.

Butcher Knife Diet May Result Fatally

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Jacob Sienke was in a serious condition in a hospital here today because he believed he could be a sword swallower. He got the idea from seeing a vaudeville performer swallow swords without apparent evil effect. He bought ten butcher knives in a 5 and 10-cent store and essayed to swallow them, one by one. One was enough. It stuck.

Ulster Situation Is Delicate, Irish Admit

DUBLIN, Jan. 30.—Free State officials admitted today that the Ulster border situation is delicate but they deny any preparations have been made to go to war with Ulster.

When the Free State was created Ulster refused to join but remained loyal to England and still has representatives in the English House of Commons.

Smuggling of Aliens Real Industry, Claim

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Smuggling of aliens into the United States has now reached the proportions of an organized illicit industry second only to the bootlegging of liquor, Secretary of Labor Davis declared today.

"Conditions are such as to challenge the immediate attention of congress," he said.

Wallace Brown Must Answer For Shooting

Wallace W. Brown, 721 West California street, must stand trial in the superior court in Los Angeles on a charge of "assault with a deadly weapon" for the shooting of J. M. Barnett, 110 East Fifty-fifth street, Los Angeles. The shooting occurred during a quarrel last Thanksgiving, resulting from the continued honking of Barnett's auto horn outside of Brown's residence.

At the conclusion of the preliminary hearing this morning, Randall J. Hood, defense attorney, endeavored to have the complaint dismissed on a plea of self-defense, but Judge Harry W. Chase, sitting in Judge F. H. Lowe's absence, bound the accused over for trial. Bail was reduced, despite the strenuous objection of Herbert G. S. McCartney, deputy district attorney, conducting the prosecution, to $2500 cash or $5000 property bond.

PALESTINE GETS NEWS IN BRIEF

W. B. Kirk Forwards Paper
Filled With Dispatches,
No Advertising

Just how the daily news is published in Palestine is seen in a recent enclosure in a letter received from W. B. Kirk, a copy of The Palestine Daily Mail, "resembling greatly an American handbill."

It is a one page publication, printed on only one side of a small sized sheet of paper. Any advertising is noticeably missing. However, other modern features noted are a telephone number, postoffice box number, subscription prices and publisher's name. Under the title "Palestine Daily Mail," appears in parenthesis "News Bulletin" and below one reads dispatches from London, Rome, Madrid, Moscow and Cairo.

Prints Soccer Scores
The scores of the London soccer matches are printed, and another London dispatch states that December 24 the new British submarine XI returned to Chatham after severe test in a secret trial lasting thirty-eight hours in the Channel.

Of interest is the following from Rome:

"December 23, It is known today for the first time that a few days ago the King expressed himself thus in regard to M. Mussolini. It appears clear from a multitude of details even of little importance that order and discipline are complete throughout Italy. M. Mussolini is a marvelous man; he has the spirit of Cavour and the bravery of Crippl."

Condemned to Die

The Madrid dispatch, dated December 23, states:
"General Berenguez, formerly in command of the Spanish troops in Morocco, and General Navaraz, have both been condemned to death for having surrendered to the enemy."

Equally as interesting is the Moscow dispatch of the same date, reading:

"It is stated that the Soviet will be represented by a special commission at the reunion of the League of Nations when the question of the reduction of armaments comes up for discussion."

U. S. Naval Radio Romance Of Lewis McGee Encircling Globe In 11 Years Is Told

By GIL A. COWAN
Of The Evening News Staff.

Jules Verne in romantic fiction told of a tour of the world in ninety days. That was years ago, and now perhaps the time could be cut in twain. But it takes Lewis McGee, chief radio man in the United States Navy, who is home on a 30-day furlough, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McGee of 128 South Isabel street, to tell of touring the world in eleven years.

Eleven years is a long, long time to have your ships headed westward, to have to tarry years in foreign stations, always waiting for the day when one can say this is my own, my native land, while handling countless radio messages ordering fleets to the China coast, sending ships to the Mediterranean, conveying merchantmen during the world war, and all the other business which the United States navy has performed in the last decade.

Most Unusual Story
It is a long story, as intensely interesting to the writer, as anything Verne wrote, for it is unusual, romantic—almost impossible—and true. No doubt, we should start at the very beginning and tell all, but the high spots are enough to cover columns, and it would take all his thirty days' leave to get the incidents in the experiences of what we might say was one of the most fortunate enlisted men in Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

Fourteen years ago, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McGee moved to Glendale from Long Beach for Lewis' health. The writer knew him in Glendale Union High school. His father was and still is, a merchant at 628 East Broadway, one of the oldest established business men in Glendale.

Leaves High School
In June 1913 the high school student became imbued with the idea of seeing the world—he thought it would be a greater education than that provided by a university. So he enlisted and soon found himself through with the apprentice school at Goat Island, San Francisco bay, and aboard a ship bound for the far east.

"I woke up on the coast of China," said Mr. McGee, in describing his adventures to the writer. "For five years I served with the Asiatic squadron, putting into all the ports from Nagasaki to Singapore, sometimes hovering around Manila. It was while serving at the radio station at Cavite in the Philippine Islands that the world war embroiled the United States. "Every available man in the

ARTISTS PROVIDE CLUB'S PROGRAM

Costume Offering of Interest to Members; Announce Future Events

That Tuesday Afternoon club activities are being renewed with added enthusiasm following the holidays was seen yesterday afternoon in the spirited club meeting presided over by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, followed by a delightful entertainment program given by the Southland Trio, including Ruthellen Miller, soprano; Elsie Manion, violinist, and Ivy Mae Travis, pianist.

During the business hour announcements were: that voting on the changes in the by-laws will take place at the next club meeting; that an open meeting of the Drama Section is to be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, February 1 with Mrs. Clara Bryant Heywood, chairman of drama for the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's clubs as honored guest; the birth day dinner of the Glendale Art association is to be held Saturday night, February 2, at the clubhouse; that the Maids and Young Matrons' Section is to give a leap year dance the night of February 12 at the clubhouse; that the Shakespeare Section is to give a card party Thursday afternoon January 31 in the clubhouse; that the club council was to meet today.

Presents Check
Of special interest was the report given by Mrs. Montgomery, chairman of ways and means. She stated that it was her pleasure yesterday morning to present the club board with a check for $400.

A guest at the club meeting yesterday was Arthur Coyt, well known in lyceum affairs. Misses Miller, Manion and Travis, entertainers of the afternoon, proved just as talented as rumors had reported them to be. Each one is an artist in her particular line and the audience of club women, who heard them accorded them hearty praise.

Program Pleases
Miss Miller is possessed of a wonderful dramatic soprano voice, while Miss Manion is a violinist of great ability and they and Miss Travis, who is a talented pianist, compose a trio that is difficult to excel.

Their program, with costume features, was most colorful and was presented in two parts. It was with regret that the club women heard the final number and bade the young artists farewell.

COMMUTER RAPS CROSSING DELAY

C. of C. Probe Complaint Of Blocked Traffic In Rush Hours

The directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce last night considered a complaint submitted by P. D. Knauchell regarding the delays occasioned to travelers on the Pacific Electric cars through the operation of the Southern Pacific trains across South Brand boulevard during the rush hours of traffic to and from Los Angeles, in which he declared that he had been held up for fifteen minutes at the railroad crossing to permit a freight train to pass, and that three Glendale-bound trains were stalled at this point, as well as trains bound for Los Angeles. The directors authorized the investigation and action.

A report on the plan to arrange a mass meeting to assist in organizing the persons affected by the Los Feliz tax assessment suits was presented by H. H. Bues, chairman of the civic committee, who stated that he had been advised that the organization that has already been formed to fight the litigation that has been started deprecated the idea of holding a mass meeting as not being the best means of handling the matter. He stated that Mr. Bues stated, plans to arrange for the raising of finances to wage the legal fight and will carry the matter to a finish along the lines already outlined.

Broadcasting Plant
A request for the support of the Chamber of Commerce in the installation of a Glendale radio broadcasting station was presented by N. D. Garver and P. L. Taylor, by which it is planned to present radio programs three nights a week.

The plan submitted by Mr. Garver would call for subscriptions from Glendale residents of approximately $800, together with a weekly fee of 15 to 20 cents, which would, it is estimated, leave a substantial balance at the end of the first year that would make it possible to reduce the weekly fees. The support of other civic organizations will be sought by the promoters of the project. The matter was referred to a committee.

Executive Session
Only four directors, President W. E. Hewitt, Percy Hayselden, L. W. Wilson and C. W. Ingledue, were present at the meeting, which was conducted as an executive session, with Assistant Secretary G. Clay Goodloe substituting for Secretary E. F. Sanders, who is in San Francisco attending the meetings of the western division of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Goodloe submitted a summary of the work he has done during the six months he has been in his present position, showing the collection of $2718 in dues and the bringing in 132 new members in that time. The directors held over much of the week's business until a larger representation of the board could be present.

ART HICKMAN TO SEND ORCHESTRA

Biltmore Organization Will Furnish Dance Music
For Club Affair

Art Hickman's Biltmore orchestra will be the entertaining musicians at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhousenight of February 12 when the Maids' and Matrons' section, of which Mrs. Claude G. Putnam is curator, will be hostesses to 100 couples.

Members of the Hickman organization will be present in person while their places in the Hotel Biltmore will be taken by others who are under Art Hickman's direction. It will not be a "radio" concert, Mrs. Putnam assures those who intend to attend this semi-formal affair.

Through the efforts of William Bode of the Glendale Phonograph company, who was formerly a member of Hickman's orchestra, these musicians will appear here.

Utah Arrest Recalls Ghastly Murder Case

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 30.—A sensational aftermath to one of the most ghastly killings near here in years occurred when Salt Lake City police arrested Joseph Kreischner, 41, for the alleged murder of his former business partner, N. N. Lucason, 43, of Oakland, according to word received here.

Lucason and Kreischner left Oakland last year, presumably on a business trip, and on September 14, last, Lucason's body was found in a recess in Cajon pass, six miles north of here. The body was identified by a small scrap of paper found on his person. Lucason also had approximately $1500 when he left Oakland, it is claimed, and when his body was found the sum was missing. A state-wide manhunt was immediately started by officers for Kreischner.

One gold-plated coach, built for a king of France, was said to have cost more than $200,000.

Discover Platinum Ore On Government Claim Of F. C. Butler, War Veteran

"Some folks are born lucky and others—" F. C. Butler of 444 West California avenue feels he acquired his luck when he took out a government claim to 160 acres of timber land in Oregon, after returning from overseas, where he saw active service with the First Division—for a rich vein of platinum ore assaying $6000 to the ton has been discovered on his property.

Mr. Butler gave out this statement last night before leaving on the 6:30 o'clock northbound Southern Pacific train. He is now en route to Crescent City, Ore., between which point and Grant's Pass lies his property.

It was when a highway was put through the tract some months ago, that the vein was uncovered, he states. At first it was thought the deposit was graphite but analysis proved it to be platinum. Mr. Butler is making the trip on the advice of his northern attorney, who has informed him a prospector has already established a mine on his property and is taking out the ore.

132,000 'Old Maids' in State This Year

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30.—With Leap Year with us, 132,000 Californians now enjoying single bliss were today warned to be on their guard, for, according to estimates of the State Board of Health, there are precisely that number of "old maids" searching this state for husbands. "Old maids," according to state tables, are women over the age of 25 who through choice or force of circumstances have remained unmarried.

Alienists Differ in Leland Divorce Suit

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Completion of the testimony of the fourth and last alienist late yesterday left the case of Mrs. Charlotte Leland and her pastor, Rev. Carl D. Case, the same mess it was at the beginning of the divorce hearing. Two alienists testified Mrs. Leland is sane. Two others testified she was deranged and that her "confession" of intimacy with the clergyman was the creature of hallucination.

PIANO PUPILS ON PROGRAM AT CLUB

Miss Lulu Zeigler of Union
High Tells Exchangeites
About Music

The forty-one members of the Glendale Exchange Club present with their guests at yesterday's noon luncheon at the Egyptian Village, 133 North Brand boulevard, were highly entertained by piano numbers from eight pupils from the class of Miss Lulu Zeigler, music department, Glendale Union High school.

Introducing the program with a brief talk to the local Exchangeites, Miss Zeigler stated that the pupils get on an average of fourteen minutes a week individual instruction under the system in force at the high school. The classes, she said, averaged twelve pupils, and were in turn divided into half classes of six pupils each, who met on alternate days, say Monday and Wednesday for one class, and Tuesday and Thursday for the other class, with Friday devoted to group work.

Quotes Sousa
Concluding her remarks, she quoted the great band leader, John Philip Sousa:

"Music is being recognized more and more as one of the most lucrative of professions."

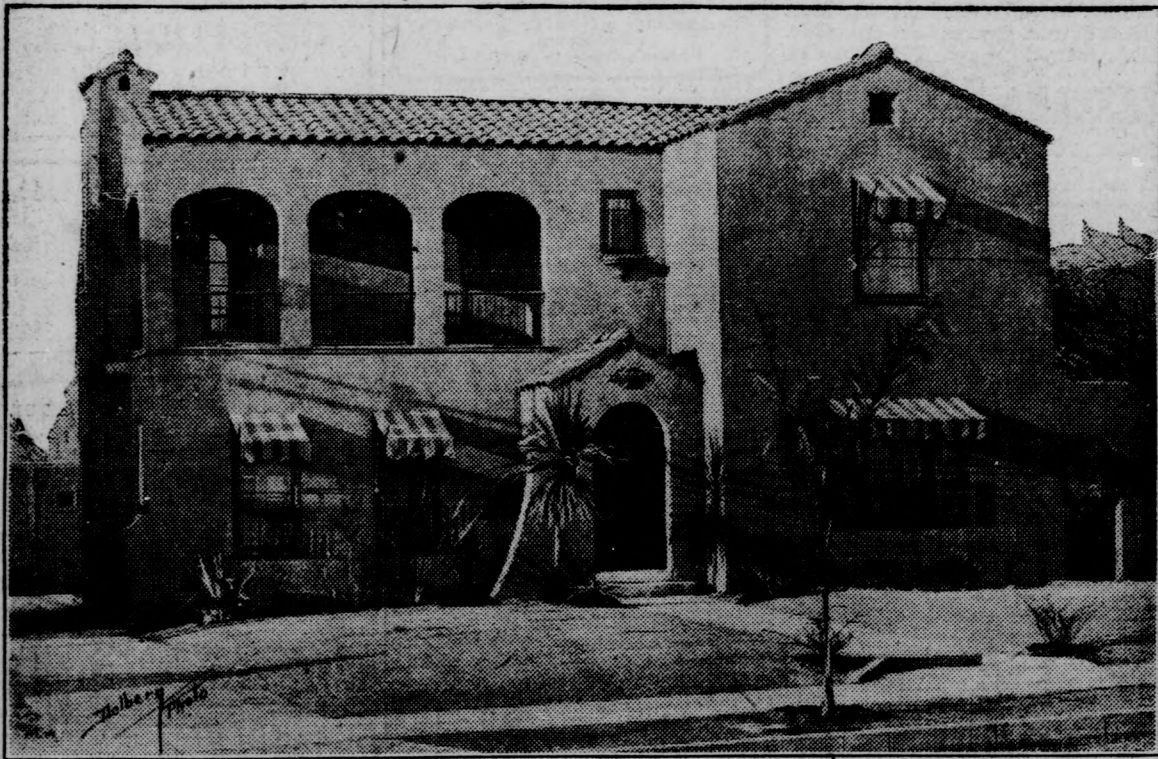

Following is the program that was given by the pupils of Miss Zeigler's class:

1. Dance of the Elves (Grieg)..... Harold Jewett
2. The Sleigh Ride (Dutton)..... Cletelle Hewitt
3. Shepherdie All and Maidens Fair (Nevin)..... Alice Mercer
4. Babillage (Gillet)..... Graham Young
5. Pomponette (Durand)..... Laura Moyse
6. Turkish Rondo (Mozart)..... Nyla Chapman
7. Shepherds and Shepherdesses (Godard)..... Amy Bainbridge
8. A la Blen Almee (Schuet)..... Dorothy Burch

PENDROY ARTISTS TO STAGE STUNTS

Entr'acts at Performance of 'Lombard, Ltd.' Will See
Lively Numbers

Members of the Pendroy organization, who are attending in a body tonight's opening of "Lombard, Ltd." at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, will put on a number of stunts during the entr'acts, it is learned.

Charles E. Royal, manager of the Royal Stock company, who is to take the title role of Tito Lombardi, the eccentric, happy-go-lucky Italian creator of wonderful gowns, made famous in the original New York production by Leo Carrillo, declares that he has arranged with Pluvius that Glendale will get rain every Sunday, Monday and Tuesday for the remainder of his season here, so the latter part of each week may be devoted to entertaining the public, and they will not have to wear rubbers or bring umbrellas.

Stages Fashion Revue
"If Pluvius should double-cross me in this arrangement," says Mr. Royal, "it's nice to know that we have such a warm, cosy place as the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre to stage our productions, anyway."

Ethythe Elliott assumes the leading feminine role in "Lombard, Ltd." as another special attraction this week. Mr. Royal is offering, starting tonight, an elaborate "Fashion Revue," with fifteen of Glendale's prettiest girls, to show patrons of the play just what are the most up-to-date modes in women's apparel.

The curtain raises promptly at 8:20 o'clock.

Ex-Glendale Officer Hurt In Auto Crash

Motorcycle Officer Dan Armer of the Pasadena police force, formerly a member of Chief John D. Fraser's speed chasers here, is in the Pasadena hospital recuperating from injuries received in a collision with the auto of A. G. Thurston. The latter claims Armer was chasing an auto at forty miles an hour without sounding his siren and that the collision was unavoidable when Thurston turned into a side street.

Spread Dagnet for Ventura Co. Bandits

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—All roads leading into Los Angeles from Ventura county are patrolled by armed deputies in an effort to apprehend three bandits aboard a stolen truck who engaged in a gun battle with the night watchman at Moore Park early yesterday after an unsuccessful attempt to rob a store there.

One of the trio is believed to be badly wounded. A fourth member of the bandit gang was wounded and captured by the watchman, according to reports to the sheriff's office here. The watchman at Moore Park is said to have surprised the bandits while they were robbing the store and attempted to capture them, when they opened fire.

Christian Science and Human Activities

By
REV. ANDREW J. GRAHAM, C.S.B.
of Boston, Massachusetts,

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.
Delivered in First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Glendale, Calif.

The speaker was introduced by Arthur P. Carey.

In 1866 Mary Baker Eddy discovered Christian Science. Later she founded the Christian Science movement. She also wrote its textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," which was published in 1875. Her human sojourn, stretching over a period of almost ninety years, was a very busy one. Mrs. Eddy was a notable example of an individual who manifests great activity and at the same time displays a sense of unusual quietness. It is seldom that one finds the piercing glance of the eagle coupled with the gentle eye of the dove. Mrs. Eddy's activity of thought soared high above that of her contemporaries, yet she was unobtrusive and seems never to have striven for worldly distinction. In her busiest days she appears to have possessed herself in quietness and confidence.

In March, 1885, Mrs. Eddy was accorded ten minutes, in Tremont Temple, Boston, in which to reply to Joseph Cook, the then noted lecturer, who had made a rather savage attack on Christian Science. The hour was noon. The occasion was doubtless one of considerable excitement with the large audience. At the given moment, Mrs. Eddy, a delicate figure, quaintly and daintily gowned, stepped forward and modestly delivered her address of about eight hundred words. She spoke of the ever-presence of God and the Christ-truth which heals and releases suffering humanity. She spoke with that quietness which betokens certainty. Her brief message is gratefully read by hundreds of thousands today, while Mr. Cook's vehement attack, unjust and untrue, has passed to oblivion.

Mrs. Eddy once wrote a brief article entitled "Improve Your Time." It may be found on page 230 of "Miscellaneous Writings," and in it occurs this passage: "Three ways of wasting time, one of which is contemptible, are gossiping mischief, making lingering calls, and mere motion when at work, thinking of nothing or planning for some amusement—travel of limb more than mind. Rushing around smartly is no proof of accomplishing much."

Great activity of body and mind subjects one to the temptation of misdirection. When activity is coupled with the balance wheel of well-ordered thought right direction can be maintained and good results obtained. One may think rapidly, speak rapidly, move rapidly and work rapidly, and all be done after the rule of orderliness and quietness, and good results be manifold. Again, one may think, speak, move and work slowly and quietly and yet be slovenly and unproductive of anything save failure. Our Leader's example of equilibrium is an outstanding feature of her work.

The span of Mrs. Eddy's life on this plane of existence, synchronized with the most active and progressive century of human history. Particularly from 1840 to 1910, the rapidity with which inventions and discoveries promised to put the material creation at the beck of man, seemed sufficiently mesmeric to entice even staid institutions of learning from their quiet pursuits into untrodden paths. During this entire period, Mary Baker Eddy walked circumspectly, looking around her, taking note of current events, keeping thoroughly abreast of the times, but holding steadily and quietly to a high purpose, the fruits of which are blessing all mankind. She was essentially a follower of the Way-shower, Jesus the Christ. Her pursuit of that Mind which was in him was earnest and unflagging.

THE WAY-SHOWER
Let us lovingly think, for a few moments, of the Way-shower, Jesus' three years of supreme activity were preceded by thirty years of such quietness as to be almost obscurity. This restraint and self-effacement, conspicuous in Jesus' human life, is a beckoning example for all who would be his disciples. Mankind has scarcely begun to realize the pattern of his life. Eagerness to get on in the world seeks to attain graduation before education, fruit before cultivation, reward before work. To me one of the most recent facts in the life of Jesus was that of restraint which he was able to put upon his activities until the time was ripe for their coming. Twice did he appear in the Jerusalem temple; on the eighth day after his birth and again at twelve years of age. With these exceptions the veil of silence dropped upon the first thirty years of his earthly life—years of obedience, unfolding and preparation. Humanly speaking, that period of quiet was a necessary precedent to the three wonderful years of public activity—activity needing no revisions and no additions. Jesus has marked the way for that quiet thinking and self-restraint which makes human activities seaward and sane and fruitful. Mrs. Eddy's teachings point us to that way. The instructions of Christian Science are not merely academic but also life-giving. The treatment and healing in Christian Science unfold a state of equilibrium in thought and action.

THE ONE SOURCE AND CAUSE
Human activities are perpetually useful only as they proceed from the right source, are guided by a noble purpose and aim at a worthy consummation. This truth ready to give a reason for our faith. Christian Science asks no recognition save on the basis of demonstration. There is nothing mysterious, mystical or elusive about its tenets. The sum total of its teaching is love, and in Science this word "love" means the reflection of the divine Mind in individual man. Therefore there is no ground for any one to be afraid or ashamed to approach and to appeal to Christian Science for help to overcome sickness, sin, lack, sorrow and even death.

One may seek this help through various avenues provided by Mrs. Eddy. There are her published writings; the Sunday Christian Science services; the Wednesday testimony meetings; the Christian Science Reading Rooms; Christian Science practitioners; the Christian Science periodicals; and the authorized lectures. Even though one may have no faith that Christian Science can relieve him of his burdens, nevertheless, the fact that he knows it has relieved others, and that it himself needs the help, is sufficient ground for his action in approaching Christian Science.

HEALING IN CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
In Christian Science we practitioners are learning some things which are very beneficial, not only to ourselves, but also to those who come to us for help. The pearl of all our learning is this: that the activity, in Christian Science healing, which is supreme, is the activity of genuine, compassionate, intelligent love. Meta-physical understanding and thorough acquaintance with the letter of Science are needful but must be accompanied by the reflection of divine Love. Selfish motives, greed of gain, dishonesty, insincerity, and the wings of inspiration, Christian Science healing is realized through human activity always seeking and following divine guidance.

We are learning that the practitioner may be too active in talking to a patient, especially if the one seeking help knows little or nothing about Christian Science. A silent treatment may stir error to chemicalization, but seldom induces healing and antagonism.

We are learning that we should be wary of patients is a sign that we fear for the efficacy of our treatment, and such fear is quite sure to prove fatal to good results. We are learning that sometimes when we have worked heartily for a patient, for a considerable time, with no result apparent, and then dismissed him, he seems to have gotten well immediately. This may mean that our healing work had already been done, but that for some reason we failed to loose the patient and let him go.

We are learning that no human being ever healed anybody of anything. Even Jesus regarded the inference that he healed, and attributed all power and good to his Father. We are learning that when we are active in listening for the "still small voice," we are doing the best kind of work for our patients. A treatment in Christian Science is what is known in the New Testament as prayer. The true prayer asks for nothing, but seeks to know the truth that God is good and lovingly cares for all His creation. There can be no healing in Christian Science except through prayer. One's light must be burning or it cannot reflect light to others.

PROGRESSING IN CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
One who has received mental enlightenment or physical healing through Christian Science usually desires to learn more about this wonderful truth. His very eagerness to advance may hinder his progress. The apothegms: Haste makes waste, and, The longest way around is often the shortest way home, contain some pertinent truth. The sense of love and gratitude which comes with Christian Science healing is a manifestation of the Christ-truth being born in consciousness, and this dawning truth needs a sheltered protection. Very apropos are Mrs. Eddy's words on page 1 of "No and Yes": "Men, when thrilled by a new idea, are sometimes impatient. They should then turn temporarily from the tumult, for the silent cultivation of the true idea and the quiet practice of its virtues." If the neophyte in Christian Science is so fortunate as to be wisely advised at this critical period, he will be saved the retracing of many steps. Acquisition of Christian Science truth and its assimilation need to go together. The understanding of this truth and its application in daily living mean sure progress. It is not wise to strive for a revelation far in advance of demonstration. The patient, methodical study of Mrs. Eddy's published writings, in connection with the Bible will open up unending vistas of divine Truth, for God being infinite, unbounded, His truth is infinite. Such study is real Christian Science work. Not labor, but work. God's work is unlabored—without effort. Christian Science teaches and demonstrates that labor wears one, while work refreshes. In that well-known marble, cut by the French sculptor Rodin, the Thinker is represented as a toiler, seated, with head bowed and supported by the hand, the countenance contracted, and the whole figure indicative of intense and painful effort. Such is not the posture and expression of the true thinker. In Christian Science, one learns that the strained effort is the action of the human, mortal mind. Instead of the activity of spiritual sense, and as true thinking is the fundamental work of all Christian Scientists, it should be done in that way, which issues in real progress.

APPLYING CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Healing in Christian Science and progressing in Christian Science are certainly demonstrations. However, under the caption of applying Christian Science, I desire to speak, particularly, of the truth as applied in business and in the practical affairs of Christian Science churches. When the disciples, obedient to the Master's command, cast their nets on the right side of the ship, their business prospered. Man—the child of God—has the right to be rightfully successful, and to have his every need supplied. Science is "the sunshine of Truth" (Science and Health, p. 299) and it illumines the path of the man who desires to deal justly with his fellow-men.

In God's creation all ideas are interdependent and mutually helpful. No business carried on by men can be called God's business, unless its basic intention and desire are to be helpful and to confer blessings upon all connected with it, whether employers, laborers, patrons or correspondents. In the largest and best sense of the phrase, the cooperative plan in business is the Christianly scientific plan. The working out of the details may be accompanied by many seeming difficulties, but the best plan is the only one worth striving for in any activity.

Business men and women—Christian Scientists—have unusual opportunities for applying the truth. No nobler work can be done than the correcting and healing of the sores of the business world today. The task may seem arduous, but what men are called upon to do is to set their own house (consciousness) in order. Then, if God has a larger work for them to do, in healing business methods of the world, He will designate and illumine the way.

While listening to this lecture, or reading it, some one may say: "Well, all other Christian bodies urge the same thing." Yes, but Christian Science not only teaches this, but it enables one to understand it; and confers on one the ability to demonstrate it. Perhaps it is well, however, to state the obvious fact that a business man should seek Christian Science help in order to learn first what true business is, that he may win blessings for others as well as himself.

Church, in Christian Science, means reception and manifestation of Truth and Love. Therefore, if Christian Scientists should ever fail to reflect Truth and Love, in their church work, their activities would be unchristian and unscientific. All those who have been received as members of a Christian Science church will find many opportunities for expressing their gratitude through the numerous channels for work provided in The Mother Church and branch churches.

It is well known that Christian churches, generally, expend much money in the support of their work. I have been engaged in religious work for nearly half a century, in an orthodox church, and latterly in Christian Science, and I can say, intelligently, that thus far the Christian Science church has kept itself quite free from the more or less questionable and often futile efforts to raise money, which prevail so largely in Christendom. The loving, spontaneous and generous offerings of Christian Scientists release them from many disagreeable tasks and leave them free to work along more spiritual lines. They realize the need of much wisdom, as workers, in the various activities of the Christian Science churches. This needed guidance is provided for in the Manual of The Mother Church, where may be found more than two hundred specific directions for those who are applying Christian Science, in church activities. Faithfully to discharge the duties of any position in church is the only way that leads to larger opportunities. David caught a glimpse of the true church and the perfect reward, when he said, "Way for the peace of Jerusalem, they shall prosper that love thee."

LIVING CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
One cannot apply Christian Science, effectually, without living it. What one does should be the expression of what one is. So it is with God. Reputation and character should harmonize. What one says should reveal, not conceal, the truth of his heart. Men, when thrilled by a new idea, showed them, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? (Micah 6:8). This is applying true Christianity. Many times, during the years of my ministry in another church, did I search the scriptures as recorded in the New Testament, to find some direct statements of his which I might employ in building up and buttressing my theological opinions and beliefs. I always turned away from that quest a disappointed man. Jesus' Sermon on the Mount reveals not a single sentence of the import of which I crept. In all his teaching and addresses, Jesus appears to have assumed that men knew much more about God and right than they were putting into practice. With him religion was a practical, individual and vital matter, beginning at home. Paul saw this important fact and wrote to Timothy, "Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine." Thyself first. Mrs. Eddy's message to mankind is contented, with power. She invested it with vitality by living it. The most correct and methodical outward conformity to the requirements of Christian Science, without the loving, inward obedience, is a shell, a vacant domicile.

THE WIDER VIEW
While regeneration must begin with one's self, yet the very nature of the Christian Science teachings renders it impossible for the genuine Christian Scientist to dwell contentedly in the realm of contracted views. If he is progressing at all, his thinking is graduating from the insular to the cosmic; his sympathies are broadening; his purposes are more far-reaching. Christian Science teaches and demonstrates that God is the only creator, that there is but one creation, which is wholly spiritual. Back of every bird, tree, flower, animal and man, is the spiritual reality of which the material shadow or manifestation is but a counterfeit. Mortal eyes have never seen these realities, but spiritual sense recognizes and enjoys them. The flower and the bird are as truly a part of God's creation as is man and are just as essential to the integrity of that kingdom. All God's ideas or creatures are perfect and harmonious, bearing loving relations to each other. Hence as the carnal mind is put off, through Christian Science, one sees more clearly the essential harmony and interdependence of all God's ideas, from the least to the greatest. The dawning of this truth reveals the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man as the foundation of all spiritual building. It begins to destroy the barriers and lines of separation between men which their narrow thoughts and ungenerous sentiments have erected.

The wider view which Christian Science brings does not accept or condone any phase of error; nor does it sympathize with error in order to be complaisant to the unregenerated mind. It sees error as unreal and therefore as a vanishing dream. This gives the Christian Scientist a great advantage for it enables him to see the sick and sinful and discordant everywhere as victims of impersonal evil, needing broad charity and divine compassion. In this unfolding, the Christian Scientist, not only deepens his righteous experience, but he also enlarges his consciousness of the reflection of divine intelligence; his motives and actions are more generous, thus tending to destroy the petty thoughts and purposes which engender to bondage.

THE SOLUTION WHICH SOLVES

True Christianity is the expression of the Christ. Jesus was ever obedient to the Christ and for that reason became Christ Jesus the Christ, or the anointed one or God-crowned.

It is not, therefore, much to be wondered at, that when the early church lost the power to heal, it seemed also to have forgotten that God is Spirit and fell to worshipping that which could be seen by the eyes. That is, it exalted the human Jesus into the place of Deity. Yet to teach that Jesus was God gave rise to so many difficulties in thought that the keenest theologians found it impossible to frame statements which would be free from self-contradictions. The three creeds of early Christendom, known as the Apostles', Nicene and Athanasian, did not close discussions nor could they prevent schisms.

Sooner or later, all religious disputes fell back to, and centered around, the person of Christ Jesus. His alleged Deity could not be harmonized with the facts which his humanity involved. Even the remarkable purification of theological thought, induced by the Reformation, dared not let its changes impinge upon the belief in the Godhead of Jesus. After many years of patient, clarified thinking, Mrs. Eddy handled the question boldly. She untied the Gordian knot. She solved the problem which had served as a theological battleground for centuries. In a reverent, natural, logical, spiritual way, she saw the dual nature in Christ Jesus, and through reason and revelation, she pointed out that that quality implied and involved the human Jesus and the divine Christ. Very lucidly Mrs. Eddy writes of Jesus and Christ on page 332 of Science and Health: "Jesus was the son of a virgin. He was appointed to speak God's word and to appear to mortals in such a form of humanity as they could understand as well as perceive." Christ is the Christ Saviour or the one who saves through the Christ-truth.

These statements are relevant and consonant with this whole lecture, for no healing activities can ever be accomplished through Christian Science, unless there be some clear understanding as to the humanity of Jesus and the divinity of the Christ. It is a privilege and duty to love and follow in the footsteps of Jesus and to worship only God, whose activity in His universe is known, in Christian Science, as the Christ.

THE DESIRE OF THE NATIONS

The ultimate result of the Christian Science teaching contemplates one family on earth—a union of nations in one grand brotherhood, whose mutual friendship is based upon the rock of Truth and Love. The division of mankind into nations, with petty jealousies and conflicting interests, is superficial, arbitrary and unchristian. Fundamentally, Christian Science teaches free intercourse and free trade among the peoples of the world. Its basic thought as to interrelations is that each man should seek a blessing through giving a blessing.

As mankind is now divided, each nation is seeking its own preservation and extension, and the widespread belief is that such preservation and extension depend chiefly upon material opportunities withheld or wrested from other nations. Such an ethical system is rotten to the core. In God's universe supply is at hand before demand calls. Divine Love is my shepherd, therefore, can I lack nothing.

It is laudable for nations to seek sustenance and expansion, but these can be safely and securely won only through knowing what real life and substance are. The apprehension and comprehension of what life and substance are, come through enlightenment and healing in Christian Science.

It is of supreme importance that the whole Christian Science movement should act unitedly, in unfolding and demonstrating the plan for universal peace. It is no idle boast to say that the past fifty years' history of Christian Science proclaim it to be the desire of all nations. All men desire satisfaction, harmony, peace. But the world has not been following this end in Jesus' way. Yet all men desire Jesus' way if they but knew it. Those who have been recipients of his blessings can never shirk responsibility without inviting disaster. They who have tasted the divine Truth and rejoiced in its freedom must keep their faces turned to the light—or walk into deeper darkness.

HOPE CONSUMMATED

and done by men originates directly in God. Every man who actively desires life and protection and peace is exercising a desire which God has given him; and a God-given desire is always attainable. Even so, nations which are striving for good-will and peace are pursuing no false light. True ideals are always realizable. The realization comes, step by step, with fidelity to the ideal. Says Professor Blackie: "To look with admiring rapture on a type of perfect excellence is the sure way to become assimilated to that excellence."

The Christian Scientist makes his contribution to universal community through the activity of knowing that the law of harmony has never been broken, that God's family has never been separated into jealous, envious factions. Thus in his own consciousness he erects a kingdom of harmony, far in advance of the Jewish Theocracy, Plato's Republic or any ecclesiastical institution of the Christian centuries. This consciousness of harmony, banyan-tree-like, leaps from man to man, reproducing itself. It cannot be stopped by any evil, acting within or without the organization called the church. "The gates of hell shall not prevail against it." The hope consummated is the thought of the one man, Jesus, is destined to be consummated in all.

Traveler, look up and lift up your heart; be unafraid; your journey is safe; your way is protected; your manna is abundant; your conversation—citizenship—is in heaven—harmony. Stranger, you are now sitting at the feast of love. Your enemies—your problems—standing round about, may seek to disturb, but they can never enter the secret place where you are abiding. If one is actively loving and lovingly active, he is ever shielded by that inviolable safeguard of a mind preoccupied with Christly activities.

Soldiers and Sailors to Have Monument

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—Dedicated to Los Angeles service men, a soldiers' and sailors' monument is to be erected in Pershing Square, it has been announced by Roger Andrews, vice president of the Citizens' National bank and treasurer of the fund being collected for the monument. The cornerstone will be laid with appropriate ceremonies on February 22, Washington's birthday anniversary. The monument will be completed before Memorial day, when it will be unveiled. Humberto Pedretti will be the sculptor and the cost of the monument is estimated at $10,000.

Nine Extraditions Are Approved by Governor

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30.—State extradition records were broken today when Governor Richardson authorized the return of nine men to other states in two hours. G. W. Casteel, one of the men extradited, will go back to Montana to stand trial on charge of accepting deposits in a bank which he headed at a time when he is alleged to have known the bank to be defunct.

Another extradition granted was for J. W. Cress, wanted in Rosalia, Wash., for shooting two men during an attempted bank robbery. Cress is held by the Oakland police.

Seize Three Students in $30,000 Mail Theft

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 30.—Three Montana university students are declared by postal authorities here to have confessed to the theft of a registered package containing $30,000 in currency, addressed to a Missoula bank, which was taken in a holdup of the Missoula postoffice. The three students under arrest are Robert A. Heller of Boston, Robert Ackler of Butte and Bernard A. Quessel of Kalispell.

The money package was found intact in Heller's possession. He has been working as an extra night clerk at the local postoffice for two months. According to his first story two masked men overpowered him, and escaped with the package. When confronted by postal inspectors he is said to have broken down and confessed, implicating Ackler and Quessel as the holdup men.

GAS POISONING

It is not at all uncommon to see reports in the daily papers of persons dying from gas poisoning. There have been reports recently of whole families being exterminated in this manner, so I think we had better have an article on the subject. Gas poisoning acts so quickly that persons are often overcome before they realize the danger, so, obviously, the thing to do is to prevent it.

Do not consider lightly any odor of leaking gas, but notify your local gas company immediately. And be careful not to stay in a room with this odor without a plentiful supply of fresh air. Flexible rubber tubing is dangerous because it rapidly becomes porous, so it is much safer to have metal tubing.

Gas leaks and gas heaters, including gas logs, gas radiators, and gas water heaters, are the biggest killers, but coal stoves and ranges and automobiles also may be dangerous.

Carbon monoxide, (one part carbon combined with one part oxygen) is given off when artificial or natural gas or coal is not burned completely; that is, when sufficient oxygen is not given so that a gas forms, composed of one part carbon and two parts oxygen—carbon dioxide, better known as carbonic acid gas.

Now, carbonic acid gas is not dangerous in small amounts. It is the waste gas that is driven off in small amounts from our lungs. When shut up in a room with many people, there is enough carbonic acid gas thrown off to make one feel oppressed and stifled, but he revives quickly in the air.

Carbon monoxide, on the other hand, even in small amounts, is very pernicious. After breathing this one does not recover quickly in the open air, and, if not sufficient to cause death, illness for hours or days may result. As you know, this gas acts so quickly that the victim may be overcome before he realizes his danger. The reason for this is that the monoxide actually becomes a part of the red blood corpuscles and combines with their oxygen in such a way that they cannot give up the oxygen to the tissues.

Gas heaters perhaps cause the most frequent deaths. There are two kinds of gas heaters, the blue-flame or non-luminous type, and the bright flame, luminous type. In the blue flame type, if there is sufficient air supplied at the mixer, or air adjustment, the gas goes on to complete combustion. This type of heater should always have a fine connection, however, because when the hot flame strikes the cold copper coils containing the water, the carbon monoxide gas is given off. Then there is the danger of the

All formulas for the sugar-brine curing of meats are practically the same, varying only a little in the proportions of sugar, salt and saltpeter. Soak the container thoroughly (a hardwood barrel is excellent, or a stone crock), then sprinkle a layer of salt over the bottom and over each layer of meat as it is packed in, skin down. When full, cover the meat with boards and weight down with a stone so that all will be below the brine.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

IT DOESN'T PAY

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 21 and have been going with various young men of the same age, but I do not seem to appeal to them for any length of time. I am considered attractive but all my friends are engaged and married while I am left.

Perhaps I run after the boys too much when I don't intend to. My friends say it may be that, but I am very lonely. What can I do to gain their admiration?

DESPAIRING BROWN EYES.

It does not pay to run after boys. Perhaps that is your failing. If it is, you ought to realize that by scaring them away you only make yourself the more lonely. Men like to do their own courting and they do not care for a girl long if she takes the initiative in telephoning, urging the meat tastes better than that which is merely sugar-brine cured.

To Smoke Meats: It is not necessary to have a regular smoke house. To smoke a small quantity at a time use a barrel or a box. Use green hickory or any of the hardwoods to burn for smoking. Pine or any other resinous woods should never be used, as they give a disagreeable flavor to the meat. If impossible to get hardwood, use corncobs rather than soft wood (the corncobs will leave a dirty deposit on the meat, which is carbon and harmless). Remove the meat from its brine the day before smoking; soak it thirty minutes in water to prevent a crust of salt from forming. Hang the meat in the top of the inverted barrel so that no two pieces touch. Always start with a slow fire, to warm the meat gradually. Thirty-six to forty-eight hours of heat at a temperature of about 120 degrees Fahrenheit will be sufficient to smoke any meats.

Tomorrow—The New Sash-Ribbon Bags.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope should be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

BEAUTY CHATS

FOOT TREATMENTS

Massage is not a cure-all for complexion, scalp or foot troubles, but it is of enormous value in any sort of treatment because it is so stimulating. It is particularly good when treating the feet, for the feet and the hands, being the extremities of the body, receive the poorest blood supply. Massage brings blood down to the feet, rests them, refreshes them and helps to do away with many annoying foot troubles.

Foot troubles, even such small ones as weariness or chilled feet, have an extraordinary effect upon the entire nervous system. Next time you feel quite done up, or if you have a bad headache, or are so nervous you want to lie down and cry, or if you are beginning a cold, try a foot treatment. Take off your shoes and stockings; then, if you have time let your feet soak for 15 or 20 minutes in a tub of hot water. The water should cover the angles, and fresh hot water should be added from time to time to keep up the temperature. Wipe them dry, take a generous amount of witch hazel in the palms of your hands and rub the feet thoroughly. Witch hazel is delightfully refreshing. Massage thoroughly well up over the ankles, around under the insteps and under the balls of the feet. Take each toe and move it back and forth, particularly the big toe. At the end of the massage rub a little powder over the feet, put on loose, warm bedroom slippers, preferably heelless, and then if possible lie down.

You can make this treatment as simple or as elaborate as you have time for. If you haven't much time spray the feet with witch hazel, massage and powder. If you have more time soak them in hot water before the massage. If you have still more time finish by lying down with your feet up on a pillow so they are higher than your head. There is an excellent physiological reason for the tired man who sprawls back in his chair and puts his feet up on his desk. He could not rest in a better position, however lazy he may appear.

Miss D. D.:—Unless you can have the treatment from the electric needle, you had better extract the coarse hairs by using a blunt end tweezers. Bleach the finer hair with peroxide.

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Mme. Susie Sorabji, well-known educator of Poona, India, visited New York recently. She expressed herself as amazed at the many things women in this country are doing and thinks that the women of India have a hopeful future, and that their salvation lies in education.

The woman suffrage question is up before the French senate once more. It has past the Chamber of Deputies by a vote of 440 to 135, and women all over the world are anxious to see if the senate will pass it. This is the second time the bill has come up, the first time being in 1919. The bill was drawn up by Justin Godard, a member of the cabinet under Clemenceau, and differs in one respect only from the American bill—that of the voting age, which is set at twenty-five.

For the first time in the political history of the United States women will have just as much power as the men when the Democratic national committee meets in Washington on the 15th of this month to select a convention city. Fifty-two women members of the committee are expected to sit with the same number of men. Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, vice-chairman of the national committee, explained that women are not "associate committee women" as is the case in the Republican national committee, but "members" in full and regular standing. Great rivalry exists between the

When you drifted into marriage on your mother's suggestion and then did not make good, you began the process of weakening your own character. TRACK ATHLETES IN VITAL TESTS

New York Meet to Give Line On Possible Olympic Winners for U. S.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Quite an adequate idea of what your worthy Uncle Sam may be able to produce at the Olympic games will be gained within the next two days at the Millrose meet, starting tonight at Madison Square Garden. Always the bell ringer of the indoor season, the games have taken on added significance this year because of the proximity of the international championships. The Millrose meet is frankly a test of America's strength or weakness in track and field events.

It will show for example, just how far Joie Ray may have come back to the speedways since this time last year. Ray has been off form last season and some of the critics have seized upon the fact to read him right out of the championship consideration. Another question that will be settled will be America's status at the middle distances.

Two Races Form Test
This will be accomplished through the medium of East versus West relay and 600 yard special race, for the Post trophy. In the former, nearly all of the great quarter-milers of the country—"Deak" Wolters, Vernon Ascher, Alan Woodring, H. M. Fitch and Ray Dodge, will appear. America was lamely beaten in the quarter mile at Antwerp in 1920 but Wolters, Woodring and Ascher have given promise of better things this year.

The 600 yard special will send virtually the same field to the post with the addition of Tom Campbell, Allan Helffrich and several others. There isn't a Meredith in the lot, however. In fact, America has no man comparable with the great Ted at any distance between the quarter and the mile.

Sprinting Monopoly
Below the quarter, however, the American monopoly in sprinting strength will be demonstrated during the games. The special sprint events will number among their entrants Walter Johnson, McAlister, Lever and Schoen, all of whom can and will beat their own time for the century under the lash of competition. The only absent star will be Charley Padgett, who is under suspension.

Another event in which the Americans hold sway will be the running high jump. Here, Harold Osborne, recent record breaker; Dick Langdon, Roy Brown and Murphy will stage a quadrangular free-for-all, and granted favorable luck, the winner will go over six feet, five inches. There is almost certain victory waiting at Paris for some member of this quartet and this fact is all the more noteworthy because American individual victories in the Olympic games promise to be none too plentiful.

NOVICES GET IN STANFORD GAMES
Competitive Events Are Open To All Athletes at
Card Invitation

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 30.—Competitive athletic events open to novices are attracting much attention at Stanford. The basketball throwing contest which has been going on for a week has narrowed down to six contenders, who will battle for final honors as a preliminary to one of the varsity basketball contests in the near future. H. M. Eicher of California, Iowa, is one of the finalists. C. R. George of San Francisco; E. R. Abbe of Los Angeles and W. Holstein of Fresno are the others. Twelve out of fifteen shots is the record score in the semi-finals.

A modified pentathlon is being held on the track, the events including the running broad jump, the 12-pound shot put, the 75-yard dash, and other events. The winners in both these contests are to receive awards.

Fencers to Meet
Stanford and California fencers will meet in a final contest at Stanford on April 14. Coach Harry Maloney has three good men in Kenneth Gardner, Michel de Cazotte and Jack Wallace. Gardner is from Oakland, de Cazotte comes from Palo Alto and Jack Wallace is also from the Stanford city.

Swimming without competition, Wallace O'Connor, Stanford university sophomore, came within 17 seconds of the world's record for the 1500 meter swim recently. The world's record for the distance which is in the neighborhood of a mile, is 22 minutes, 23 seconds.

O'Connor is the coast record holder in the 850-yard swim, and Coach Bransten of Stanford is preparing him for the Olympic games.

BABY PAYS RENT

Rumors, Denials, Alibis

By F. A. GRAHAM

Pitchers and catchers of the Los Angeles club will report for spring practice February 25 at Long Beach. A week later the recruits and other members of the team will begin an onslaught at the training table. Onslaught is the proper word, for when a gang of baseball players get through with an outlay of fodder the table generally bears a close resemblance to the wreck of the Hesperus.

And, speaking of ball players, which seems to be what was being done, there is one young man this spring who is getting what is coming to him. Somewhat small for his size, as the old man says, he is one of the most enthusiastic players it has ever been our pleasure to watch. The name is Antonio Rego, Tony for short, which applies both to name and stature, but there the short business ends.

Tony broke into coast league circles in 1920 with the Angels. He played a few games when the glue had been cinched or when it had been hopelessly lost, but never was given a start in a regular game on his own hook. For the last two years he has been under study to the regular catchers.

Perhaps his size had something to do with it, but if there ever was a young man who was wide awake and loved the game of baseball, that young man is Tony Rego. He was always on his toes and many a wise-cracking regular found out, to his sorrow, that he couldn't take liberties with Tony's arm while on the bases. Tony not only saw every move that was made, but he had the nerve and confidence to snap a throw every time a runner got too far off the bag. From the side lines Tony gave the impression of being in there because he loved the game, not merely to make a few dollars to pay his room rent.

This winter George Sisler has been watching Tony, and the outcome of it is that Sisler thinks he is good enough to take a trip back to St. Louis. The only surprising element in the whole thing is that Tony never was given more of a chance by the coast league managers, but, then, the managers know their business better than their critics do. If Tony doesn't make good in the big show it will be a great surprise to us. He has the heart, he has the ability, he likes the game irrespective of the money there is in it, and he has the confidence of these qualifications, perhaps the last named is the most valuable. Confidence is what counts, no matter whether it is in baseball or selling ribbons over the counter. A man with Hornsby's playing ability, minus confidence, wouldn't be worth a nickel of marks, but a man of mediocre ability or even less, who feels that he CAN do it and has the heart to try it, is bound to be worth something. Keep an eye on Tony Rego in the next two years. This year probably won't get him much, but from then on we look for his name in the reports from the east, with increasing prominence.

Old-timers will remember Charlie Hall, pitcher, who will throw for Sacramento this year. This will be Hall's third start in the Coast league. He broke in here in 1903 and went to other clubs, coming back in 1916. Then he played several campaigns with St. Paul in the American Association, being with that club when the lamented Little World Series was attempted between St. Paul and Vernon, which was a decided flop. In one game that Hall attempted in that series the Vernons treated him any thing but cordial and he took to the box and threw a hand of cards, bleacherites, both complimentary and derisive, so that is something. The main thing, according to an advertising specialist, is to get talked about, no matter what kind of talk. One of the founders of newspapers in the early days of this country had a slogan very similar, only more to the point. His was, "Raise a hell and sell newspapers," meaning get talked about and the rest is easy.

Plummer and Pigg are two young pitchers who will be with the Seattle Indians this year. Somehow those two names seem to suggest something, especially when combined. We hesitate to say just what, but maybe you can think of something.

Shelby, Montana, that misguided town where Dempsey and Gibbons boxed fifteen rounds for honor and pelf, Dempsey getting the pelf and Gibbons getting the honor, is in with a big fight for a Dempsey-Pippo quarrel. If the offer is legitimate that town is certainly a hindu for punishment. The last, or rather the only, big league fight there caused the banks, leading citizens and their descendants to shudder financially, but they are evidently a bunch of game guys.

Another name that seems at the time quite appropriate is Cellars. He is a young pitcher who has been acquired by Vernon. Vernon seems to have quite a fancy for cellars, if you grasp our meaning.

Now that this name thing has got such a start, we might as well make the most of it. There is that pitcher coming to the Angels this year from Oklahoma City, whose name is Payne. Hm-m. Seems that some people thought the Angels had a Payne last year. Furthermore, it must have been contagious, some of the fans saying at different times that they had a severe one.

Wayne Wright, pitcher, Charles Root, same, Cedric Durst, outfielder, and Josh Billings, catcher, will be with the Angels this year. Will the fans Durst to Root for and Josh a team that has a Payne in its midst? Would that be Wright?

Just by way of winding this thing up, we might inquire if Vernon is going on another Cellar Crus again this year? If they do, it's a cinch that the Angels won't have their pain in the league. Giddap, Napoleon.

CASEYS TO MEET LEGION SLUGGERS

Fast Game Will Be Staged in Glendale Ball Park Next Sunday

What promises to be one of the best games of the season will be staged at the White Sox park on San Fernando road next Sunday when the Glendale K. C.'s are at home to American Legion Post, No. 8, of Los Angeles in a set-to that will have much bearing on the standing in the San Fernando Valley league.

The last time these two teams met they battled to a 3-3 tie, and this is really a grudge match. Since the reorganization of the Caseys, with Manusch as captain, they have not lost a game, and are going great guns at the present time. With the White Sox away pastiming at Torrance with the Union Tool outfit, Manager Doll's outfit should play before a capacity crowd.

Heidler, rated by many as one of the best semi-pro twirlers in the south, will be on the mound for the locals, with Perroni doing the receiving. Slim Harris will cavort in right field, with Manusch in center and Doll in right.

Chance to Move Up
San Fernando Post, No. 8 and the Caseys are now tied for third place in the league standing, and but a short margin separates them from Lankershim, who hold first place. Van Nuys is occupying the second berth. If the leaders tumble next Sunday and the locals can put the Legionnaires out of the running, their chances of getting into the lead will be the best they have enjoyed this season.

It is reported that some of the Caseys will wear White Sox uniforms at the end of the Triple A and San Fernando league season, and thereby become established in the eye of the Coast league managers. Another one of the best fielding third sackers in California, but rather weak with the stick, is spoken of very highly, and with an experienced teacher to instruct him with the willow would make the grade with any California team.

SUNLAND DEATH SUMMONS SUNLAND PIONEER

John MacVine's Influence on Community's Growth
Widely Felt

Friday, January 18, saw the passing of one of the pioneers of Sunland, John MacVine, at the age of 71 years. He had been in failing health for some time. Left to mourn him are Mrs. Elizabeth MacVine, widow, and two sons, Noel and Leonard, both well-known citizens of Sunland.

John MacVine was born at Newcastle-on-Tyne, Northumberland, Eng., January 15, 1853. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Barlow of Bolton, Lancashire, Eng., May 4, 1880. His education was completed at Durham university, where he studied chemistry. While following this calling his health failed and it was in search of health that he went to Sunland, in 1886.

Saw Boom Collapse
Mr. MacVine was one of the few who were in the valley when the attempt to found a town at Sunland was first made. When the boom collapsed and the colonizers left he took up ranching. He was active in the organization of the Mutual Water company, which supplied the ranchers with irrigation water, and always took an active part in community affairs, having considerable influence on the early history of Sunland. His home on Manzanita has long been one of the show places of the valley.

Much of the early development work was participated in by Mr. MacVine, he having helped to convert the Roscoe trail into what is now the Roscoe road through Hansen Heights west of Sunland. Previous to the opening of this road the only road out of the valley was by way of Glendale. Succeeding eras of development were likewise witnessed and influenced by him.

The funeral was conducted at Forest Lawn, Glendale, in the Little Church of the Flowers, and was attended by many of the pioneers of the Monte Vista valley. Mr. MacVine was a member of the Roscoe trail into what is now the Roscoe road through Hansen Heights west of Sunland. Previous to the opening of this road the only road out of the valley was by way of Glendale. Succeeding eras of development were likewise witnessed and influenced by him.

Arizona Man Burned
By Furnace Explosion

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 30.—J. B. Armor, an employee of the state highway department, was severely burned about the face and shoulders when he lighted an accumulation of gas and oil in a furnace, the ensuing explosion shaking to its foundation the main office building in the basement of which it occurred. The noise was heard for several blocks and recalled a mysterious explosion of a year and a half ago when a small building located in the highway department yard was blown to bits by a charge of TNT.

How We Spend Your Money in building Studebaker cars Why people buy 150,000 yearly

It is true that we spend lavishly on Studebaker cars. But it's all to your advantage.

It is by that spending that we give you the greatest value in the fine-car field. We offer prices no one matches on any comparable cars.

That lavish spending led people last year to pay $200,000,000 for Studebaker cars. And that volume brings our prices down to where they are.

$50,000,000 in plants

Studebaker assets are $90,000,000. In modern plants and equipment we have $50,000,000. Seventy per cent of that amount was spent in the past seven years. So it represents the last word in equipment.

$8,000,000 in drop forge plants, so every vital part is made to Studebaker standards.

$10,000,000 in body plants, so Studebaker ideals may be shown in every body.

All that is staked in a permanent way on satisfying fine-car buyers better than our rivals.

What extras cost

Lack of vibration is a famous Studebaker feature. We get that by machining crank shafts as they were in Liberty Airplane Motors. That extra cost is over $600,000 yearly.

Matchless endurance is another famous feature. One Studebaker Six, still in active use, has run 475,000 miles since 1918. We get that through costly steels. On some we pay 15% bonus to makers to get formulas exact.

Beauty of finish is another supremacy. But that finish requires many operations, including 15 coats of paint and varnish.

Our real leather cushions cost $25 per car over imitation leather.

Every Studebaker car is Timken-equipped. The Special-Six and the Big-Six have more Timken bearings than any car selling under $5,600 in America. The Light-Six more than any competitive car within $1,000 of its price.

In closed cars we offer wondrous luxury. The lining is Chase Mohair, made from the fine fleece of Angora goats. Velour would cost about one-third that, saving up to $100 a car.

Note those bumpers, that steel trunk, those extra disc wheels with cord tires on some models. Note that extra courtesy light. Think what they would cost if you bought them.

The cost of care

The unvarying standards in Studebaker cars are fixed by a department

Don't Buy Blindly

Studebaker is today the leader in the fine-car field.

It has made this concern the largest builder of quality cars in the world.

You can find nothing in cars at $1,000 or over to compare with Studebaker values.

Studebaker sales have almost trebled in the past three years. The growing demand is the sensation of Motordom.

For 72 years the name Studebaker has stood for quality and class. But never so much as today.

Then don't buy a car at $1,000 or over without learning what we offer.

of Methods and Standards. It is enormously expensive.

Our constant improvements are due to ceaseless research. 125 experts devote their time to the study of betterments. They make 500,000 tests per year.

That reliability is due to 12,000 inspections of the material and workmanship in each Studebaker car before it leaves the factory. This requires 1,000 inspectors.

Being generous with men

We pay maximum wages—at least as much as anyone else will pay.

BURBANK

RATE EXPERT ON INDUSTRIAL JOB

R. H. Hill Looks Into Freight,
Switching and Tax Costs
For C. of C.

Switching and freight rates are to be thoroughly analyzed by R. H. Hill, who has been retained by the Burbank manufacturers to head the traffic department of the newly created industrial division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Hill has had thirty years' experience in such matters. It is said, and has already gone far in his new capacity, toward effecting real savings by the local manufacturers. He plans to weld the industries of the city into a solid machine and then go before the railroads for freight charge reduction.

Mr. Hill also aims to cut local taxes on industry, thus paying the way for additional manufacturers to locate here.

Practically every Boy Scout in Burbank attended the big meeting held January 24 at the Thomas A. Edison school, when a campaign was inaugurated to recruit new members to the organization.

The night meeting was preceded by an afternoon session at the

Ex-Governor Stephens in Avocado Business

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30.—Former Governor William D. Stephens plans to forgo political life and become an avocado grower, it was indicated Saturday when the California Avocado Growers' Exchange of Los Angeles was incorporated with the former state executive at its head.

The former governor gave his place of residence as Montebello.

John Muir school, when the boys enjoyed a good Scout picture and heard inspiring talks by Messrs. Cheesman, Collins and Thomas.

The meeting at the Edison school uncovered a campfire and weiner roast, with buns and apples, things dear to the Boy Scout heart, certainly, if the way they fell to was any evidence.

Then there were yells, funny stories, ghost stories and Scout tales of adventure strongly appealing to the American boy. The men who recently qualified as scout leaders took a prominent part in the program.

Policeman Wins Lot
C. D. Doolittle, desk man of the Burbank police department, has had his worldly goods increased by one gratis lot, having been notified by the National Investment Company of Los Angeles that he was one of the lucky ones winning a lot and membership in the new Smiley Park Country Club at Fredalaba, in the mountains near Arrowhead lake.

This bonanza came following a distribution of coupons at a local theatre. It has a string tied to it, however, in the opinion of Mr. Doolittle, for it is necessary to put up $18.75 for surveying and other expenses incident to transferring the lot to him. He is therefore debating Hamlet's famous lines, "To be or not to be..." as found in the celebrated Shakespeare play—the question in this case resolving itself into whether or not to be a property owner in this new mountain country club.

Jackson Got $5000
Bribe, Lawyer Admits

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 30.—Joe Jackson, former star outfielder of the Chicago White Sox, who was banished with other players from organized baseball following the 1919 world's series with Cincinnati, received $5000 for his part in "throwing games," his attorney, Raymond J. Cannon, admitted in court here yesterday.

Jackson, Cannon said, took no part in any efforts to deliver the series to the Cincinnati Reds so that gamblers might cash their bets. Cannon's statement was made just before Jackson was called as first witness in his suit to force President Charles A. Comiskey of the White Sox to pay the balance of the salary named in Jackson's contract, which was abrogated.

Several Youngsters

John Berley pitched good ball for Houston in the league, while Edgar Clough, a 17-year-old left-hander, is being taken along just to see what will happen, if anything.

Other prospects are Howard Cranchach, a semi-pro, from Philadelphia; Donald Hurst, from Clemson college; William Stone, from Mercer college; and Fred Wingington, recalled from Fort Smith.

These may be more, but this is enough—and enough is a great plenty.
